

An aerial photograph of a town in Georgia, likely Mtskheta, nestled in a valley. A river flows through the town, reflecting the golden light of a setting sun. The town features traditional Georgian architecture with red-tiled roofs and a prominent church with a large dome. The surrounding landscape is lush green, with steep hills and mountains in the background under a dramatic, cloudy sky.

GEORGIA

Completed: Ivanova Victoria Valeryevna

Course, Group: 2course 293 group

INTRODUCTION

- Georgia is a state in the southwestern part of the Caucasus. It is a small country in Transcaucasia on the eastern coast of the Black Sea, which is located at the junction of Europe and Asia. Most often Georgia attracts Azerbaijanis, Armenians, Russians, Osetians, Ukrainians.

CLIMATE

- The climate is transitional, from moderate to subtropical. You can come to Georgia all year round, the main thing is to remember that the climate here is mild, but the weather is changeable.

HOW TO GET FROM THE AIRPORT TO THE CENTER

- You can get to Tbilisi from the airport by city public transport: by minibus, bus, train, or by taxi or by ordering a transfer. If you are going from the airport to other regions of Georgia, you still need to get to the city first.

SIGHTSEEING

- Lagodekhi Park is located on the border of Georgia with Azerbaijan and Dagestan. The largest summer recreation center is the capital of Adjara, Batumi. In the south of Georgia, tourists can explore the Khertvisi fortress.

GETTING AROUND

- Public transport in Georgia is buses and minibuses, cars, trains, taxis. There is still a metro in Tbilisi.

ENTERTAINMENTS

- Bike rental and sauna on Lake Lisi-there is a good recreation area on the lake. Sulfur baths in the Old Town. Paragliding in Kazbegi.

FOOD AND DRINKS

CONCLUSION

- Despite its small size, Georgia is a country of contrasts and amazing diversity.

