Many people claim that camping holidays can be a lot of fun and especially relaxing. Others don't think it is a good idea to live in a tent if you want to enjoy your holidays. I would like to say which is more attractive for me.

I think being out in the open air close to nature is exciting experience. It is so comforting to wake up to the sounds of the forest or the sea. _____, you are able to have fun doing all sorts of activities. You can go swimming, cycling or climbing. If you are not the energetic type, you can sunbathe and read a book. _____, there is no better way to end the day than sitting around the campfire with your friends or family.

_____, some people prefer comfortable hotels. They say that sleeping on the ground in an uncomfortable sleeping bag is not in any way enjoyable. _____, they hate pitching a tent and cooking over a fire. They consider it exhausting. I would like to convince these people to go on a camping holiday for a change. Living in a hotel with all conveniences is the same as living in a flat.

_____, tastes differ. If people can't do without a cozy bedroom or a bathroom, they will choose a package tour. They will have 'bed and breakfast' and excursions with a tour guide. _____, I would choose to camp in the mountains or on the beach. It is very

A In addition to this, teenagers who have a job earn their own money and this has several advantages. Parents who are perhaps struggling financially, for example, will no longer need to find pocket money for their son or daughter. Furthermore, when teenagers earn their own money, they are usually more careful when deciding how to spend it. In this way, they learn how to handle money responsibly.

B Is it a good idea for teenagers to have part-time jobs while they are still at school? In my view, teenagers who have part-time jobs gain more than just money from their experience. I believe, therefore, that both parents and teachers should encourage teenagers to work part-time.

C To conclude, the way I see it, teenagers learn both responsibility and independence through a part-time job. Why not learn some important life lessons at an early age? After all, as they say, "Today's teenagers are tomorrow's adults".

D To start with, getting a job teaches young adults early in life how to become reliable individuals and citizens. An employer expects you to do your job well, and when someone depends on you, you feel a sense of responsibility. Moreover, a part-time job can teach valuable skills essential for your future career, such as learning to be on time, handling money and dealing with customers.

E On the other hand, some people argue that it's unwise for teenagers to work while still studying. In particular, they fear that having a job can take up too much time and cause a student's school work to suffer seriously.
