SOME VARIANTS:

- A) The students turn and simply identify the flashcard.
- B) The students are asked to make a sentence with the flashcard, or answer a question. For example, you ask, "What do I like to eat?" In your hand there is a banana flashcard. When the students turn they must answer "You like to eat bananas!"
- C) The students stand back to back. They are given each a flashcard to hold (face forward) in front of their chest. When they turn they must identify their opponents flashcard.
