A close-up photograph of several white Scrabble tiles with black lettering, scattered on a light-colored surface. The tiles are slightly out of focus, with some words like 'rose', 'gift', and 'trap' clearly visible. A bright yellow, rounded rectangular overlay is centered in the image, containing the text 'New words' in a bold, purple, sans-serif font.

A Strange Day

Lynne Robertson

OXFORD

Hi! My name is Rich. I'm eleven years old.
I'm a mild person.
I'm careful. I'm never in a hurry.
I study a lot. I get good grades.
I play sports. I play with my dog.
Every day is usually the same.
But yesterday was different. Yesterday was strange.

The day began strangely.
My alarm clock never rang.
I forgot to set it.
I never forget to set my alarm!
I got up quickly. I usually get up slowly.

I always listen to the radio when I get dressed.
I turned it on, and it was really loud.
That was strange because I usually listen to music quietly.
“Rich! Turn down the music!” my mom yelled.
“Sorry, Mom,” I said, and I turned it down.

I went downstairs and ate breakfast.
Then I went to school.
I always ride the bus to school.
I usually study on the bus.
But that morning I couldn't study because everyone was laughing loudly.
They were laughing at me because I was wearing my pajamas!

When I got to school, I put on my gym clothes.
For school, gym clothes are better than pajamas.
In science class, my friend Alice sat next to me.
“Rich, why are you wearing your gym clothes?”
the teacher asked.
“Because I forgot to get dressed this morning,” I said.
“And I forgot my homework, too. Sorry.”
Alice laughed loudly.

I forgot my lunch, too.
My friend Jimmy gave me his sandwich.
But he forgot to tell me there were tomatoes in it.
I can't eat tomatoes! I got a stomachache.
I went to the nurse's office.
"Rich, why are you wearing your gym clothes?"
the nurse asked.
"Because I wore my pajamas to school
this morning," I said.

When I got better, I went to gym class.
We ran outdoors. I usually run quickly.
But that day, I ran slowly. Very slowly.

I was the last one back to school, and the door was locked!

I walked to the front of the school,
and I saw a strange girl.
Her hair was blue. Her dress was blue.
Her spaceship was blue.
“My name is Zeta,” she said.
“Nice to meet you. My name is Rich,” I said.

"Do you like to fly?" Zeta asked me.
"Yes, I like to fly," I said. "I usually fly very well."
"Good," she said. "You can fly my spaceship."
And I did.
We flew to the moon. We flew around the sun.
"Is it usually this hot by the sun?" I asked.
"I don't know," she said. "I don't usually fly
this near the sun."

"I don't usually fly this near the sun, either," I said.
"Oh no! You're flying badly!" Zeta said. "Let me fly."
"And I don't usually fly carelessly," I said. "Wait a minute! I don't usually fly spaceships!"

"That's OK. Here, have this," she said. She gave me a blue flower.
"Thanks, Zeta," I said.

I woke up in the nurse's office.

"You were snoring loudly," the nurse said.

"That's strange. I never snore loudly," I said.

"You snored loudly, and you missed your gym class," she said.

"I went to gym class. I ran. Then I couldn't open the door, and I met a girl with blue hair," I said.

"You had a dream," the nurse said. "You should hurry, or you'll miss your bus."

"Rich, why are you wearing your gym clothes?" my mom asked.
"I forgot to put on my school clothes this morning," I said.
"That's strange. You usually do everything carefully," she said.
"I know," I said. "But today was a strange day."

And when I got ready for bed that night, I found a blue flower!
