A huge number of ethnic groups live in Russia

But we will consider only one of them

It will be Kazakhs

They occupy 0.45% of the total population of Russia.
That is about 653,962 people

Kazakhs are the indigenous people in the Russian Federation, the tenth largest among all ethnic groups of the country

Until 1936, not only the Kazakhstan state did not exist in the world, but there were no Kazakhs as a nation in general. There was a general concept - the Kyrgyz

What do Kazakhs look like?

Straight or slightly wavy hair, a thick beard, a straight nose with a horizontal base, a wide cut of the eyes, a large mouth, brown or dark hair, gray, blue or mixed (with green) eyes, a relatively high growth, a relatively broad face

In the character of an ordinary Kazakh there are such qualities as kindness, generosity, hospitality But at the same time there is cruelty and ruthlessness to the enemy

Kazakhs are well treated in Russia

An example of this is the Kazakh streamer Akol. He has a large Russian audience that loves him. This is a very positive and funny man.

In Russia, they love the national dishes of this people, such as Manti and Beshbarmak
Every Kazakh follows traditions, therefore there is a strict recipe for cooking and the food is tasty

Kazakh cuisine is very diverse
