Brand quality

What makes Audi cars different from others? The fact that all models offered by the company, without exception, are made with special care and attention to the smallest details. The variety of body shapes, engine models, drives and transmissions, paint and trim options — in the tradition of Audi. This is one of the essential attributes of the Premium segment, where the brand always sets the tone. Almost 100 years ago, the most perfect Horch cars for their time were manufactured strictly in accordance with the customer's wishes. Individuality has now become a sign of quality of life, which is why the Audi brand has been offering customers a program of personal finishing and equipment of Audi exclusive cars for more than 15 years, in which special, individually designed models are created.
