The background of the image is a reproduction of the painting 'The Starry Night' by the Dutch Impressionist painter J.M.W. Turner. The painting depicts a night sky filled with swirling, luminous stars and a bright, glowing moon. The sky is rendered in various shades of blue, from deep indigo to lighter, almost white highlights. The stars are depicted as bright yellow and white circles with concentric, swirling patterns around them, giving the impression of a turbulent, dynamic sky. In the foreground, there are dark, silhouetted hills and a prominent, dark, vertical structure that resembles a cypress tree or a tall, thin building. The overall composition is characterized by its swirling, rhythmic patterns and vibrant colors.

Every lesson you're going to have 15-30 new words.

If you don't learn your phrases TODAY, you'll have to learn twice as much (30-60 words) TOMORROW.

The day after tomorrow you'll have 45-120 words.

So, what I'm trying to say is: when I ask you to do your homework, I don't try to be SADISTIC, I merely want to help YOU SURVIVE!!!

I haven't done my homework....

She'll finish me...
ahhhh!!!

A decorative header featuring a row of stylized green and yellow trees. Above the trees, the text "YOU CAN" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font, flanked by two green double-headed arrows. Below "YOU CAN", the word "SURVIVE" is written in a much larger, bold, black, sans-serif font.

YOU CAN SURVIVE

- If you warn me BEFORE the lesson.
- If you don't OVERUSE your right. (maximum excuses per month = 2)
- If you come up later this week to pass the homework you had failed to do on time.

It's absolutely essential to do corrections after each test you take. No matter how small or unimportant the test is, just do it! No corrections – no progress.
