Thanksgiving
to you!

THE PILGRIMS

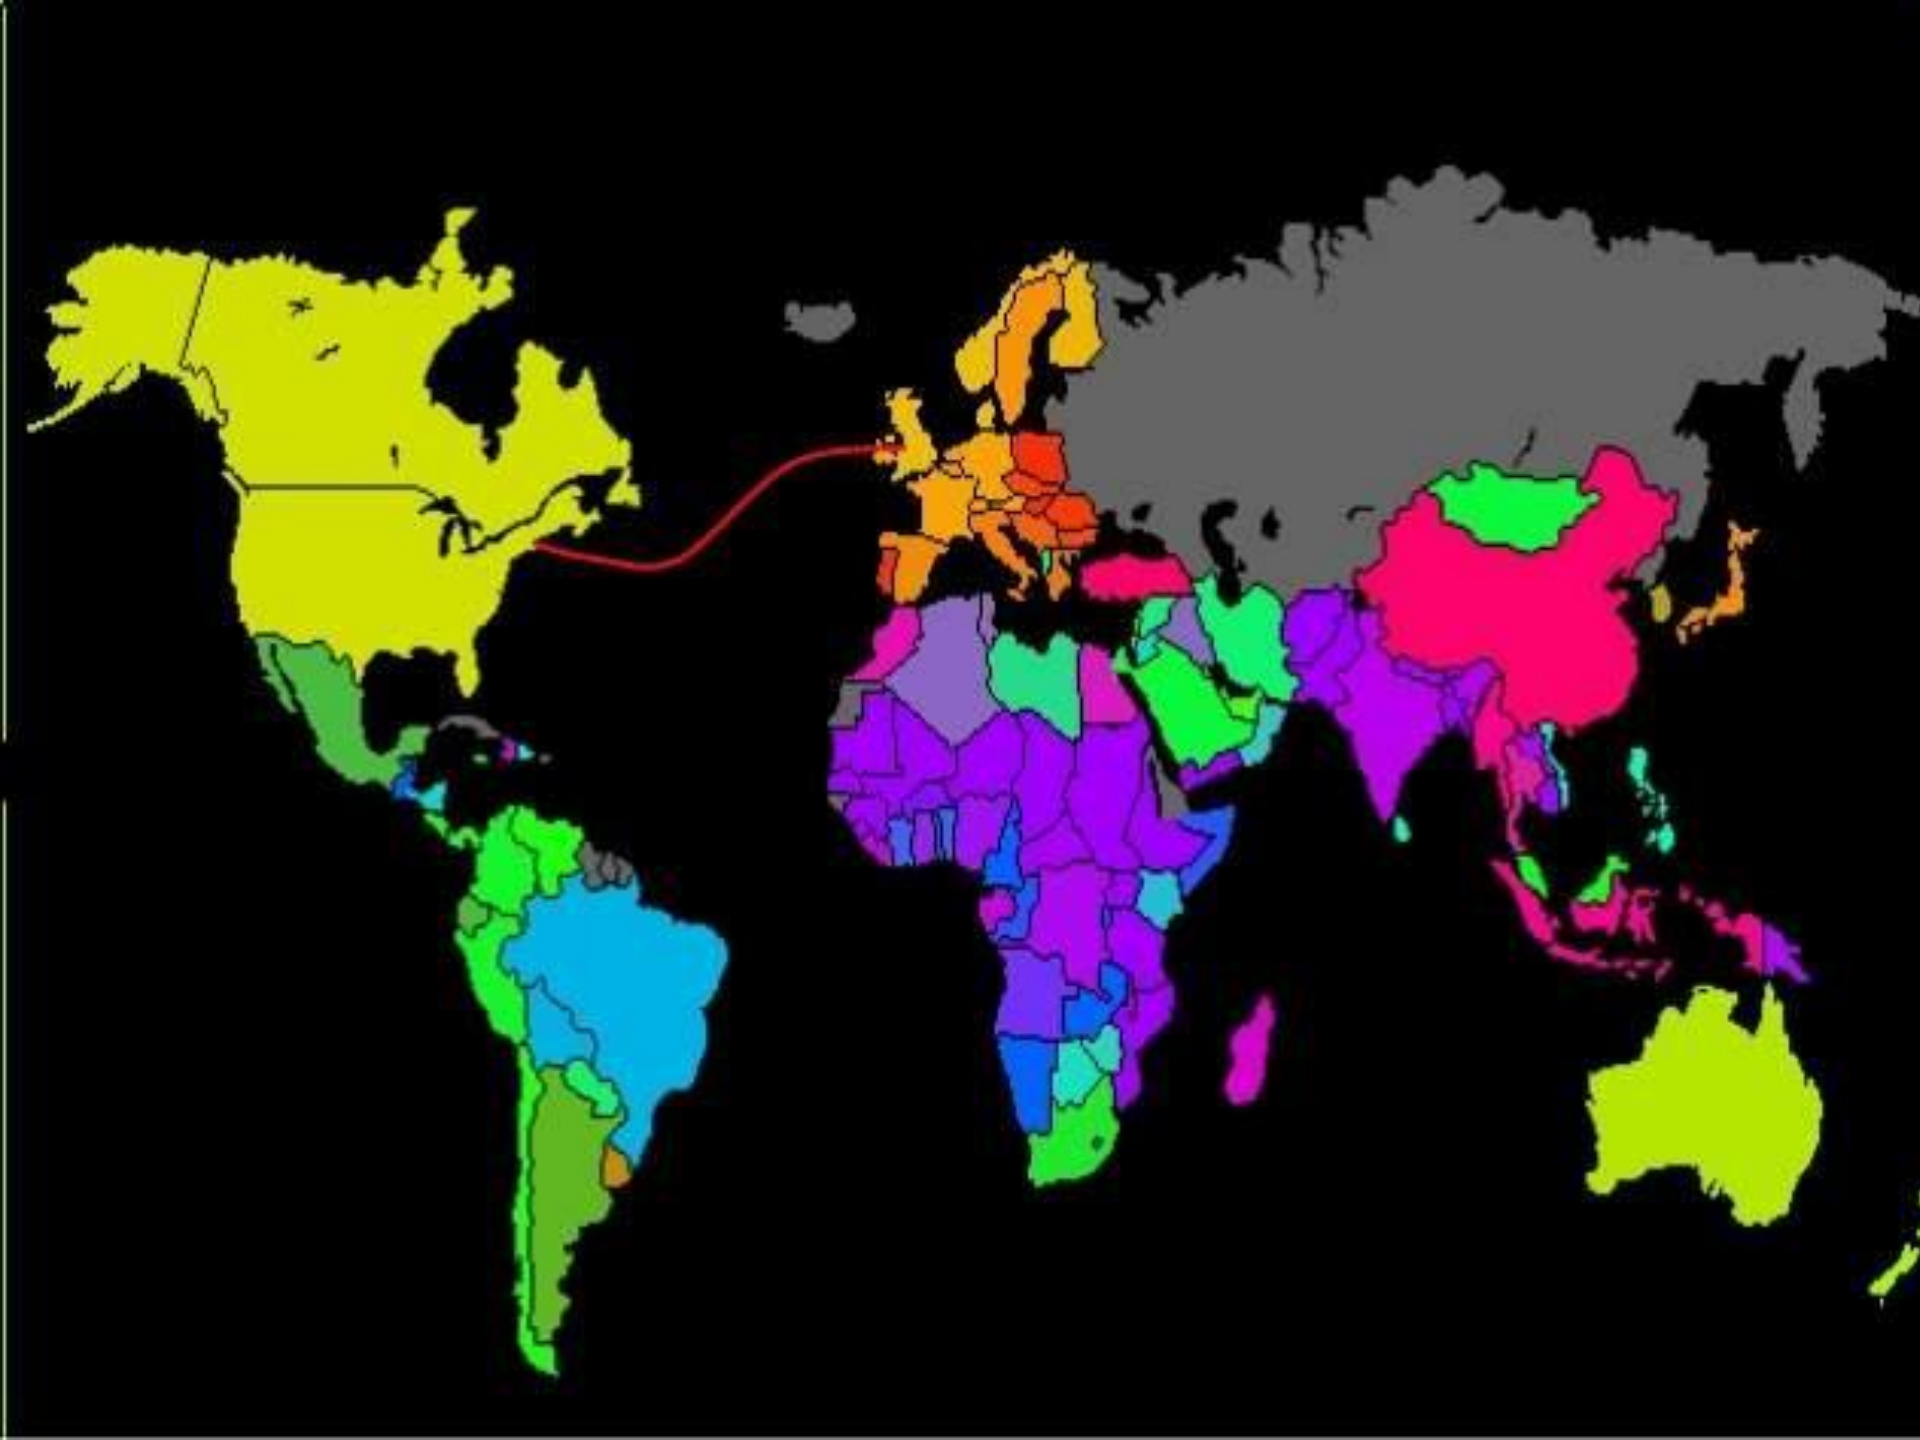

The Pilgrims were English.

They left England on a ship called the Mayflower

The Pilgrims arrived at Plymouth, America in 1620.

Life was very difficult. The Pilgrims' crops wouldn't grow.

They were soon dying of hunger.

A native Indian decided to help the Pilgrims.

His name was Squanto and he belonged to the Wampanoag tribe.

Squanto and his people gave the Pilgrims food and taught them how to hunt, fish and grow corn.

The next harvest was a good one. The Pilgrims decided to celebrate with a feast and invited the native Indians who had helped them. This was their way of saying thank you.
