

LAPTOP

Laptop is a portable personal computer that combines typical PC components, including a display, keyboard, and pointing device (typically a touch panel or touchpad)

Laptop types

Two in one: laptop + tablet

- The main feature of these transformers: touch screen and the ability to turn or remove from the total device.

Gaming notebook

- In such laptops the correct balance of the powerful processor and the same video card is appreciated.

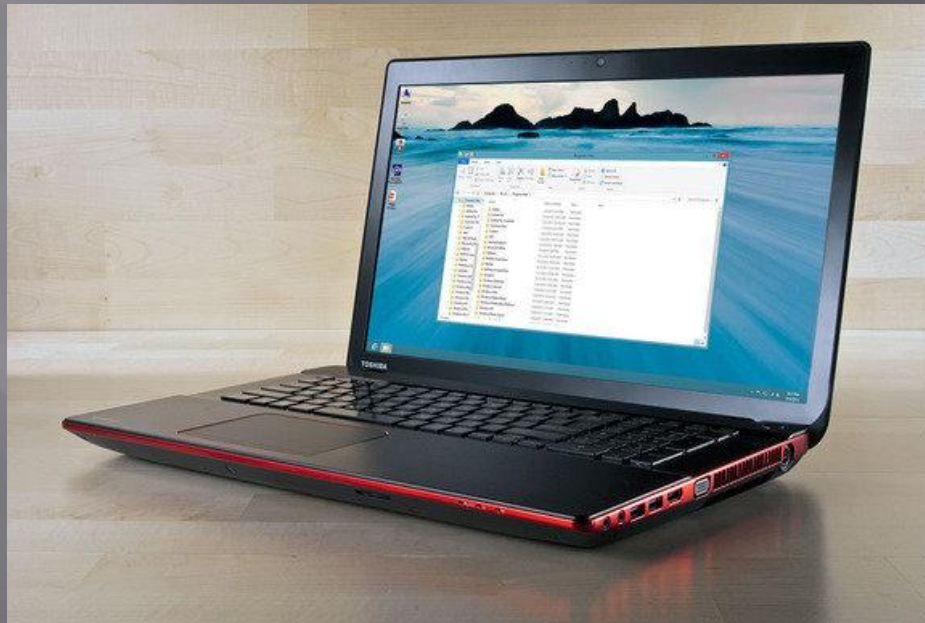

Ultrabooks

- Thin and lightweight laptop with smaller size and weight compared to conventional laptops, but — most of the characteristic features of a full laptop

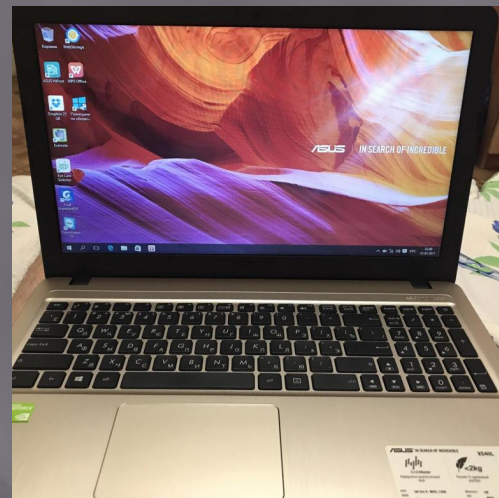

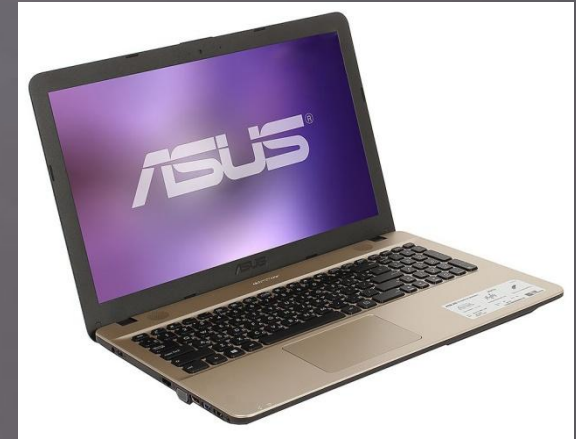

Desktop replacement

- In fact, it is a type of multimedia and business laptops, which has one key feature — a large screen (with a diagonal of 17 inches and even more).

Rating of laptops sold in Russia

Some of the best laptops in the world

