EXPERIMENT NO. 1 The determination of total titratable acidity in milk by titration

THEORETICAL INFORMATION ABOUT TITRATION:

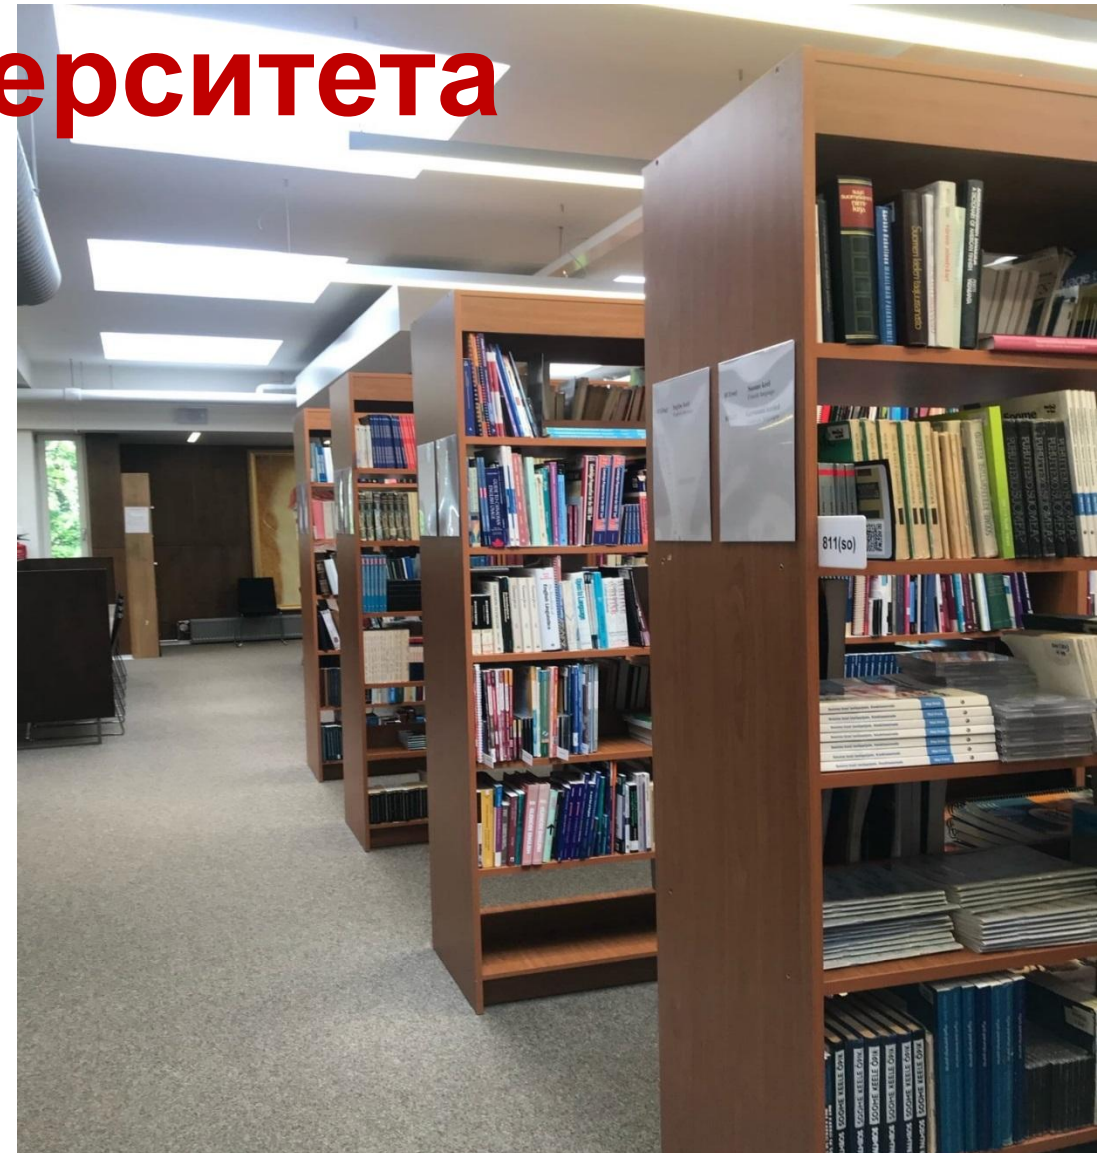

1. The volume of the acid solution is known and the volume of the base solution is unknown. The volume of the base solution is determined by titration.

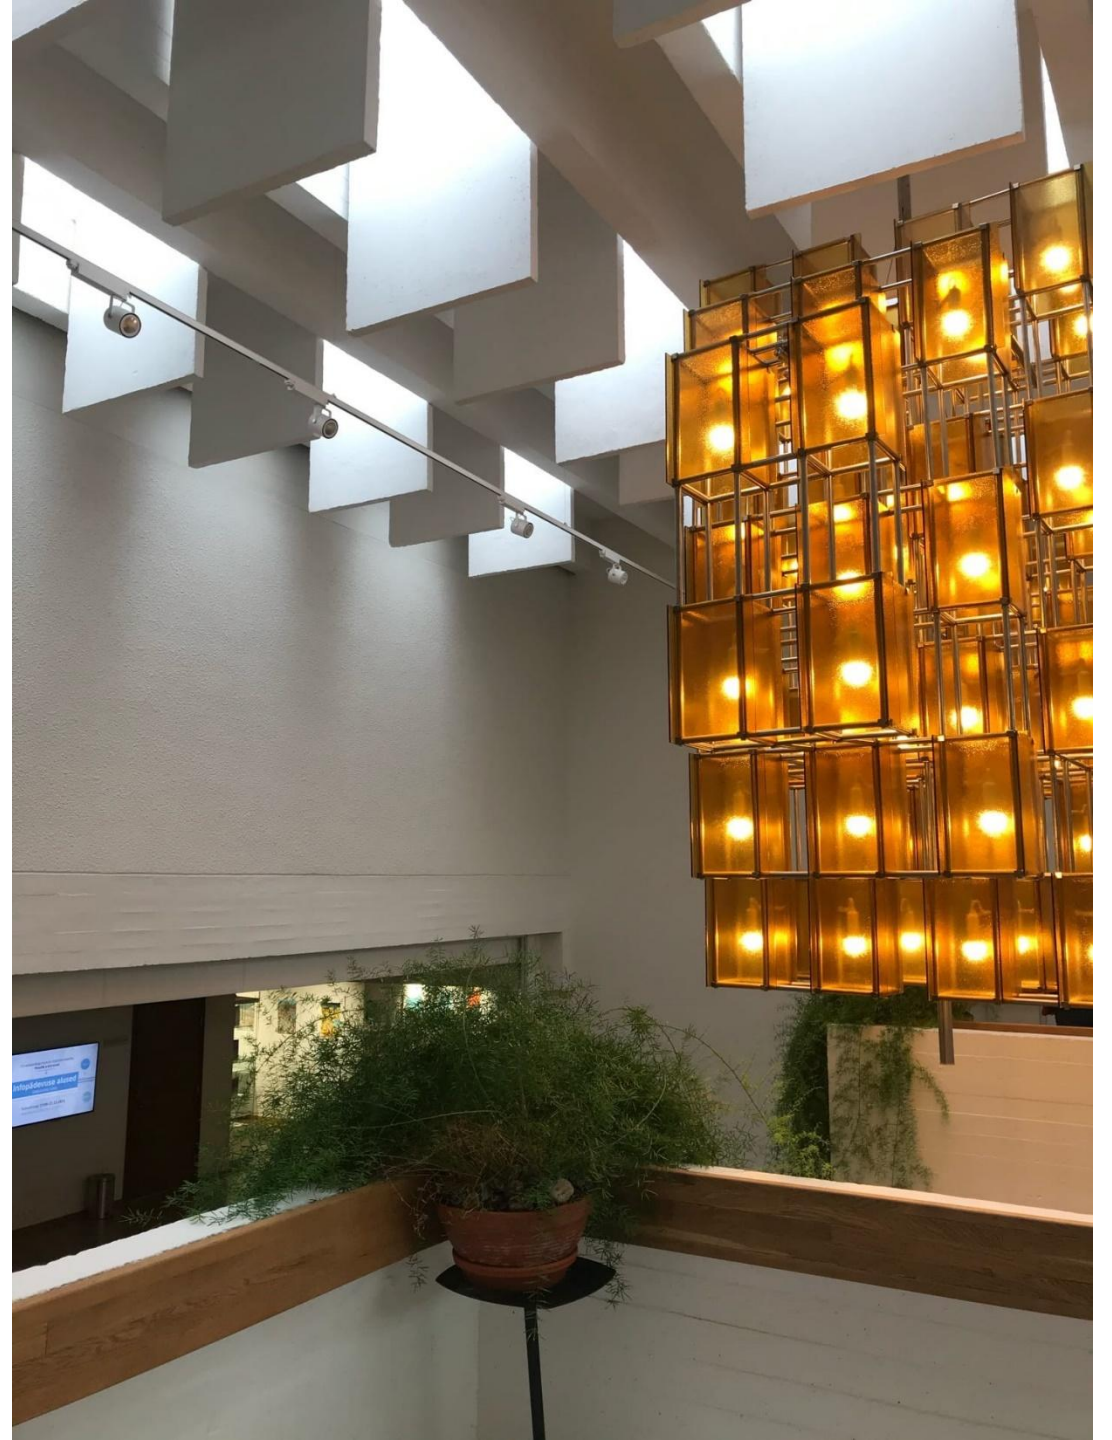

2. The volume of the acid solution is known and the volume of the base solution is unknown. The volume of the base solution is determined by titration.

3. The volume of the acid solution is known and the volume of the base solution is unknown. The volume of the base solution is determined by titration.
