- I Want to Be

Some people often say to me:

"Have you decided what you want to be?"

I usually answer, "I don't know,"

But it isn't really so.

I want to win an Olympic race,

I want to see the Earth from space,

I want to travel to Katmandu

I want to be rich and famous, too.

I want to be on Hollywood's screen,

I want to invent a new machine,

I want to be very clever and wise,

I want to win the Nobel prize,

But most of all, I want to be

Healthy, strong and nice.

Gina wants a book for her nephew who is interested in nature. He's always asking questions about the world around him and Gina thinks he's ready to start learning a few simple facts.

A I Wonder Why

The wonders of science come alive for children in this delightful book. As well as enjoying the lovely pictures, they will also learn about how plants grow, see how different birds care for their young and discover some interesting information about insects.

Bruno is looking for a book his daughter will enjoy reading and which will also help with a project she is doing at school. She has to describe an important event from the past.

G Time Travellers

This very interesting set of stories shows what life was really like for people at certain points in history – the building of the Eiffel Tower, the sinking of the Titanic, the first moon landing. Written as diaries, these stories are historically accurate.

Edita's son loves animals and she would like to buy him a book with beautiful pictures and a strong message about the need to respect the environment.

D The Hunter

In this exciting story, wonderfully illustrated by a famous wildlife artist, Jamina finds a baby elephant whose mother was killed by hunters. Looking for help, she travels back through the African bush and is able to enjoy the nature all around her. Her journey teaches her the importance of doing all we can to save and protect our world.

Tony wants to buy a novel for his teenage sister. She likes stories that are true to life and that show people in difficult situations.

H Joanna's Search

Joanna was brought up by her aunt and uncle and has never known her parents. At 14, she decides to try and find the answers to the questions that she has always asked herself – 'Who am I?', 'Where do I come from?' The novel tells the moving yet funny story of Joanna's search for her identity.

10

Lydia is looking for a book about animals for her granddaughter, who cannot read yet. She wants a book with several stories in it, and some attractive pictures.

E Forest Tales

This book is a collection of seven well-known animal stories from different cultures around the world. They are particularly suitable for reading aloud and would make good bedtime stories. Each story is about six pages long with bright and colourful pictures on every page.

The odd ones.

C Painting History

This is a beautiful book showing famous paintings through history. Each painting is described in detail, including simple facts about the people shown in them and their lives. Children are invited to look more closely at the pictures and to try some of the techniques themselves.

B Basic Technology

A love of knowledge begins early with this colourful reference book. Find out interesting facts and learn about important inventions in the last century. If you know a child who asks questions like 'What makes a car go?', then this is the book for you.

F Journey to the Past

Lying ill in bed, Lucien knows he is not like other boys. In this imaginative story he finds out just how different he is. He discovers that he has the power to transport his mind through space and time. This amazing novel will appeal to those who read to escape from the real world.

Antarctica

Journalist Sara Wheeler writes about her meeting with the artist Philip Hughes and the discussion they had about their experiences in Antarctica.

Antarctica has had a powerful effect on both explorers and scientists.

In 1994 I discovered why, when I spent seven months there collecting material for a travel book. I have often thought the amazing emptiness of this region would attract the interest of many landscape painters and yet, throughout history, only a small number have actually been there.

- 11 Sara Wheeler went to Antarctica to do some scientific research. B
- 12 Sara Wheeler was surprised by how few artists have travelled to Antarctica. A

In 2003, one of them, the 67-year-old painter Philip Hughes, opened a one-man show in London called simply 'Antarctica'. Until 1975, Hughes's paintings were mostly of the South Downs in England, but at this point, Hughes decided he wanted to paint more distant lands. First, he travelled to South America.

Then in 2001, he spent five weeks in Antarctica, dividing his time between Rothera, a British research centre on Adelaide Island, and a science camp up on the West Antarctic ice sheet.

- 13 Philip Hughes was one of many artists to have paintings on display at the 'Antarctica' exhibition. B
- 14 By 1975, Hughes realised that he needed to find other locations for his work. A

Antarctica simply isn't like anywhere else on this planet and for me this was the best thing about my visit. It is one-and-a-half times bigger than the United States but it is very peaceful. It also never gets dark. When I went to Hughes's show, we looked at his paintings together. He explained, 'I was just amazed by the beauty of Antarctica. It didn't matter that our nearest neighbours were 800 kilometres away.'

The temperatures can be extreme. At my camp they reached -115°C and at times I felt terrible. But back in England, looking at Hughes's painting Leonie Island at Midnight, I remembered what Antarctica was like when a storm ended. It was as if the world was new. Then I wondered why I came back. Hughes was there in summer, and the temperatures were around zero. He could draw in these conditions but if it got colder, he needed to wear gloves. The picture Christmas Day at Rothera was drawn on paper while Hughes sat on the needed to wear gloves. The picture Christmas Day at Rothera was drawn on paper while Hughes sat on the ice. He didn't put paint on it until later when he went inside, a common technique with Hughes. Although there are colours in Antarctica, most of the continent is white. 'The technical difficulty involved in painting there,' explained Hughes, 'was working in white. When I used even a little blue and green, I had to work very carefully.'

I asked Hughes why he went to Antarctica. 'Today, people are controlled by things like mobile phones and email. I had to get away from this. You only become aware of the absence, say, of planes overhead, when there aren't any. When it's only you and the natural world, you completely understand its power.'

19 Hughes found it challenging to paint mainly in white. A

Indian films

Actor Amitabh Bachchan talks about his experiences

I have spent over 30 years in the Indian film industry and have worked with almost three generations of directors and actors. There was a time when life in the movies was very different. It was slower and everything seemed simpler. Now, there are so many things to be dealt with: the light needs to be right, the equipment needs to be returned, the actors have to be somewhere else. There also used to be a sense of magic about the movie industry and the stars were special. Now they are just one of a crowd.

However, in my experience, the new generation of film-makers take their work seriously and they are all very confident. Sometimes, when a young director is talking to me about a scene, I can see technical difficulties. For example, in the film Aks we needed wild dogs

- 21 What is Amitabh Bachchan trying to do in this text?
- A suggest how Indian actors could improve their technique
 - B compare Indian films with those made in the USA
 - C encourage people to watch more Indian films
 - D describe changes in the Indian film industry
- 22 What does Amitabh Bachchan say about the Indian film industry today?
- A Every stage of filming takes a long time.
 - B The film stars are famous around the world.
 - C The people involved in filming have a lot to do.
 - D It is difficult for young actors to start their careers.

a scene, I can see technical difficulties. For example, in the film Aks we needed wild dogs for a particular scene and I asked Rakesh Mehra how we would do that. He said it was not a problem. He found an address on the internet and we shot the scene in Romania. More often, Rakesh is anxious about getting the actors' dates right or sorting out the financial side.

Most of today's young directors have trained in the United States. They have learnt how to plan their productions in great detail and they are extremely well prepared. Before filming starts, they have chosen the best locations and the best times to shoot.

23 What happened when Amitabh Bachchan and Rakesh Mehra worked together on Aks?

- A They disliked working with one another.
- B They argued about the best actor to use.
- C They disagreed about acceptable levels of cost.
- D They worried about different things in making the film.

24 What is Amitabh Bachchan's opinion of young directors?

- A They have a professional attitude towards their work.
- B They are careful not to annoy any of the actors.
- C They like to discuss their decisions with others.
- D They make sure that everyone is well trained.

starts, they have already made decisions about the costumes, make-up, camera angles and so on. For an actor it means there's someone taking care of everything. It makes the filming go smoothly. I have little doubt that the future of our film industry is in very good hands.

25 How would Amitabh Bachchan describe the Indian film industry?

A

The films we made when I was younger were so much better – more money is available today but the acting is worse.

B

Indian film-makers know what they are doing – the industry is growing in strength and I think it will continue to do so.

C

Our new generation of film-makers depends too much on technology – they don't realise what makes a really good film.

There are some great young actors today – they have to film scenes unprepared and this makes them very special.

An invention might also be a better way of doing something – (28) C example, a tool to make a job easier or a new farming method. Many inventions, like musical instruments or sports equipment, have made life more comfortable or enjoyable. The range of inventions is enormous.

Future forms (Формы для выражения будущего времени)

- Спонтанность решения (-Oh, I will travel next summer.)
- Обещание (отказ) в помощи (I will help you.) (I won't do it.)
- Предсказание/ угроза (I think it will rain tomorrow.)
- Ожидание надежды (I expect he will call us.) + perhaps, probably
- Планирование, сборы (I am going to visit London.)
- Предсказание на основании того, что видишь сейчас. (You are going to fall down.)
- Ближайшее точное будущее (I am travelling tomorrow!)
- Заранее организованное событие (+его время) (She is coming tomorrow at 7.)
- Расписание в будущем (The train arrives at 6 tomorrow.)
- I will be playing tennis from 6 to 7 tomorrow.

Не используем will после before, after, as soon as, as long as, in case, when, if...

I don't know if he will come. (Сможет ли)
