Honolulu

- * Honolulu is the capital and largest city of the state of Hawaii, located on one of the Islands of this ridge – Oahu. Here is the most famous tourist attraction of these Islands – Waikiki beach and the only Royal Palace in the United States.

Brief history

- * King Kamehameha I conquered Oahu and United the Islands into the Kingdom of Hawaii (1810). Soon after, he moved the Royal court from the island of Hawaii to Oahu. In 1845, Kamehameha III officially moved the Kingdom's capital from Lahaina to Honolulu.

Brief history

- * The ideally located port of Honolulu has made the city a convenient stop for merchant ships plying between North America and Asia.
- * The overthrow of the monarchy in 1893 by the United States encouraged the development of tourism in Honolulu and the construction

ATTRACTIONS

An aerial photograph of Waikiki Beach in Honolulu, Hawaii. The image shows a dense line of high-rise hotels and apartment buildings along the coast. In the foreground, a wide, sandy beach is crowded with people and numerous colorful beach umbrellas. The water is exceptionally clear, showing shades of light blue and turquoise. A small sailboat with a blue and white striped sail is visible near the shore. In the background, the iconic Diamond Head volcanic crater rises prominently against a blue sky with scattered clouds.
