

Stylistic devices making use of the meaning of language units (FIGURES OF SPEECH)

Presentation was created by the student of ЭК-1 group Pchelkina A.B.

Periphrasis

This is a device by which a longer phrase is used instead of a shorter and plainer one; it is a case of circumlocution (a round- about way of description), which is used in literary descriptions for greater expressiveness.

Periphrasis. Examples:

The notion of king may be poetically represented as the protector of earls; the victor lord; the giver of lands;

a battle = a play of swords;

a saddle = a battle-seat,

a soldier = a shield-bearer,

God = Our Lord, Almighty, Goodness, Heavens, the Skies.

In poetry:

a disturber of the piano keys = a pianist (O. Henry).

an elongated yellow fruit = banana (Charles W. Morton)

Antonomasia

This device consists in the use of a proper name instead of a common name or vice versa. Thus, we may use a description instead of a person's name, creating a kind of nickname.

Antonomasia. Examples:

УНИВЕРСИТЕТ
ЛОБАЧЕВСКОГО

Do not act like Mr. Bean (a famous British comedy character) = acting ridiculous/illogical

Mister Know-all (a character of S. Maugham)

Scrooge - a miser; Solomon - wise ruler

He is the Napoleon of crime (= a genius in crime as great as Napoleon was in wars)

He looked at himself in the glass. Here, then, was a modern Hercules.

= a man who is like this hero of ancient Greek myths (A. Christie).

As we can see, on the one hand, antonomasia is a subtype of periphrasis, on the other, it is a subtype of metonymy.

Euphemisms

This term denotes the use of a different, more gentle or favourable name for an object or phenomenon so as to avoid undesirable or unpleasant associations.

Euphemisms. Examples:

УНИВЕРСИТЕТ
ЛОБАЧЕВСКОГО

the verb to die may be replaced by euphemisms like:

to expire, to be no more, to join the majority, to be gone, to depart.

A madhouse may be called lunatic asylum or a mental hospital.

A toilet, lavatory = ladies' (men's) room; rest-room; bathroom.

Euphemisms. Peculiarities:

Euphemistic expressions may have the structure of a sentence:

China is a country where you often get different accounts of the same thing = where many lies are told (from Lord Salisbury's Speech).

There are euphemisms replacing taboo-words (taboos), i.e. words forbidden in use in a community:

The Prince of darkness or The Evil One = the Devil;
the kingdom of darkness or the place of no return = Hell.

Thanks a lot for your attention!

Please, now ask your questions and let's do some tasks!