HISTORY OF RELIGION IN ENGLAND

BRITAIN USED TO BE A ROMAN CATHOLIC COUNTRY.

In 1533, during the reign of Henry VIII,
England broke from the Roman Catholic
Church to form the Anglican Church.

WHY DID ENGLAND BECOME A PROTESTANT COUNTRY

Henry VIII, the king, wanted a divorce. He wanted a son and his wife only gave birth to daughters. He asked the Pope for permission to divorce, but was refused. Henry VIII became very angry and decided to make his own church.

Henry VIII became leader of the Church of England (Anglican Church). He had the Bible translated to English and the people who believed in this new religion were called Protestants.

BACK TO BEING A CATHOLIC COUNTRY

In 1553, Mary became Queen. She changed the country back to Catholicism and burned Protestants who wouldn't change at the stake (similar to a bonfire).

ALL CHANGE AGAIN

In 1558, Elizabeth became Queen. She changed the church back to Anglican and it has been the official religion of England since.
