

Muhammad Ali (1942) - boxer, born January 17, 1942 in Louisville, Kentucky. Best known as the heavyweight boxing champion, called the greatest. Died June 3, 2016 (74 years old)

- At birth, he was given the name Cassius Marcellus Clay. A charismatic, outspoken athlete who has been called a great one, Muhammad Ali was one of the most prominent heavyweight boxers of the 1960s and 1970s. The athlete with extraordinary speed, cunning, and flair won the world title three times in 15 years. He was very quick-tempered, he very often provoked the opponent before the fight.

- I admire Muhammad Ali because I really like his fighting technique and the fact that he is one of those who tried to stand up to racism. Because of his speed and the fact that he was able to win the title of champion 3 times.
