

THE HISTORY OF THE CELTS

Women were technically equal to men, owned property, and could choose their own husbands. They could also be war leaders, as Boudicca (Boadicea) later proved. That was not so in most societies of that time.

The Celts were the people who brought iron working to the British Isles.

