The image shows the facade of the Şamaxı Şəhəri (Shamakhi City) castle. It features two prominent cylindrical towers on either side, both constructed from light-colored stone blocks. The towers have crenellated tops and several small, arched windows. A central rectangular section, also made of stone, sits atop a main wall that spans between the towers. This central section has a crenellated top and a row of five small, arched windows. The main wall below the central section is also made of stone and has a crenellated top. The name 'ŞAMAXI ŞƏHƏRİ' is prominently displayed in large, white, serif capital letters across the center of the main wall. The sky is overcast and grey, and a few birds are visible in the distance.
