Миллионы пакистанцев страдают от недостатка продовольствия

A group of African children, likely in a school or community center, are shown holding bowls of food. The children are of various ages and are looking towards the camera with serious expressions. They are wearing simple, dark-colored clothing. The bowls they are holding contain a yellowish, porridge-like substance, possibly a staple food in their region. The background is slightly blurred, showing more children and a red wall.

в развивающихся странах проблема продовольствия обостряется в связи с быстрым ростом населения.
