The film's technology is widely regarded as being superior to that of its rivals

- ◉ When the film medium came about in the 19th century, there already was a centuries old tradition of screening moving images through shadow play and the magic lantern that were very popular with audiences in many parts of the world.
- ◉ During the 20th century, movies grew much longer and the medium quickly developed into one of the most important tools of communication and entertainment.
- ◉ 3D film technologies have been around from the beginning, but only became a standard option in most movie theatres during the first decades of the 21st century.
- ◉ Television, video and video games are closely related technologies, but are traditionally seen as different media. Historically, they were often interpreted as a threat to the movie industry that were countered with innovations in movie theatre screenings, such as colour, widescreen formats and 3D.
