

Representation of the concept “anger” in English and Kazakh literature.

Made by: B.Assanova
Supervisor: K.Mustafina

RELEVANCE OF THE SCIENTIFIC WORK

- Lies in the fact that a universal concept of “anger” is included in the conceptual system of any culture and possesses a number of ethno cultural variations. Therefore, the main task of the current work is to study both ethnical characteristics and language realization of the emotion “anger” in English and Kazakh languages.

OBJECT OF RESEARCH

- Is a comparative analysis of a semantic space of the considering languages, which represent the concept of “anger”.

SUBJECT OF INVESTIGATION

- Is specificity of the verbalization of the emotion “anger” in considering languages in lexical, grammatical, phonetic and graphical levels.

PURPOSE AND TASKS OF THE STUDY

- To review the notion of “emotive vocabulary”
- To consider the peculiarities the linguocultural and ethnical aspect of the concept “anger”, ways of its lexicalization in fiction
- Analyze characteristics of the concept “anger” in English and Kazakh cultures.
- spot the differences and similarities of the ways of expression “anger” in English and Kazakh literature.
- To study the system of lexical, grammatical, phonetic, means expressing the concept “anger”.

RESEARCH METHODS

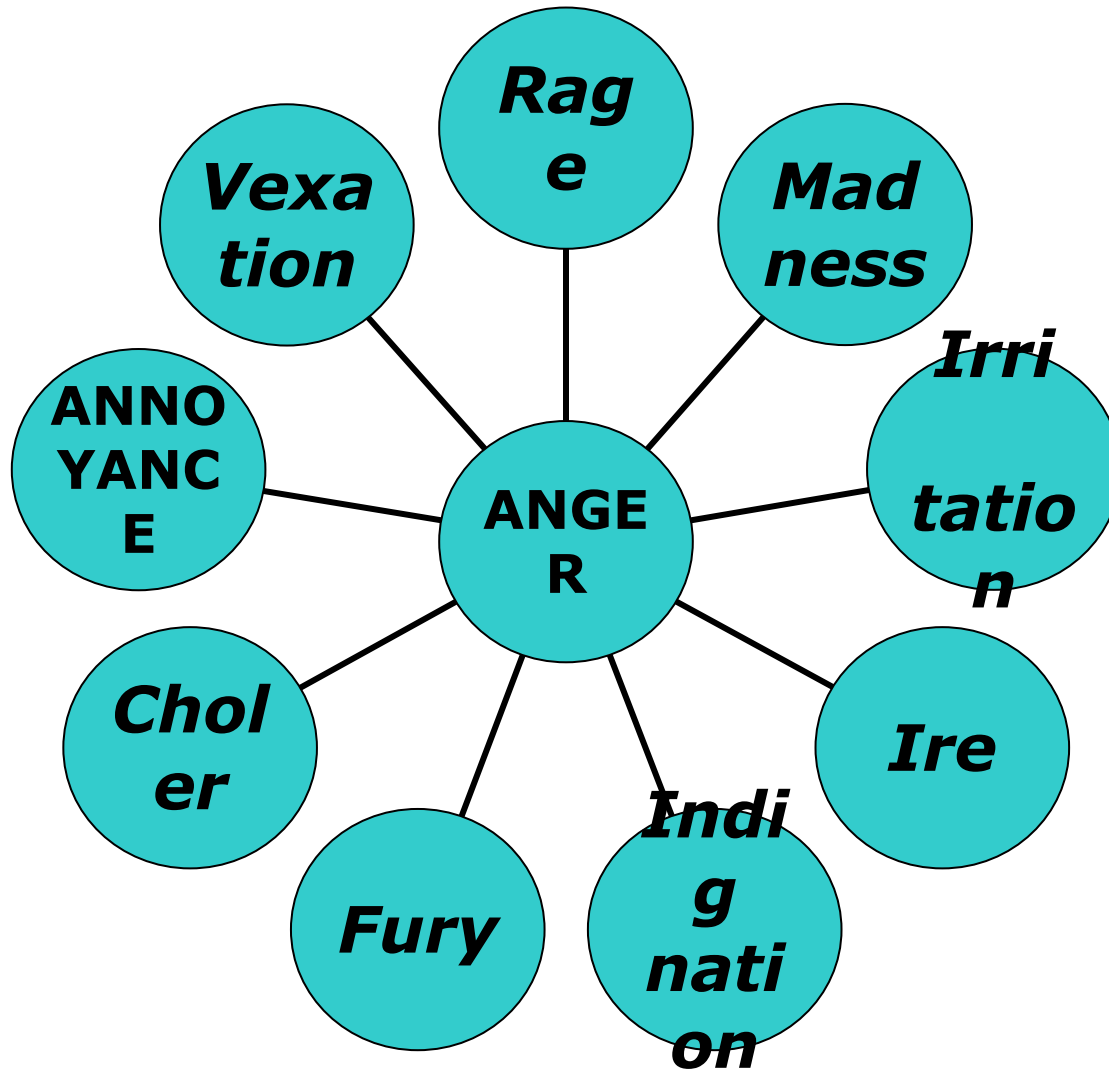

- Сплошной выборки
- Контекстуальный анализ

PLAN OF THESIS (theoretical part)

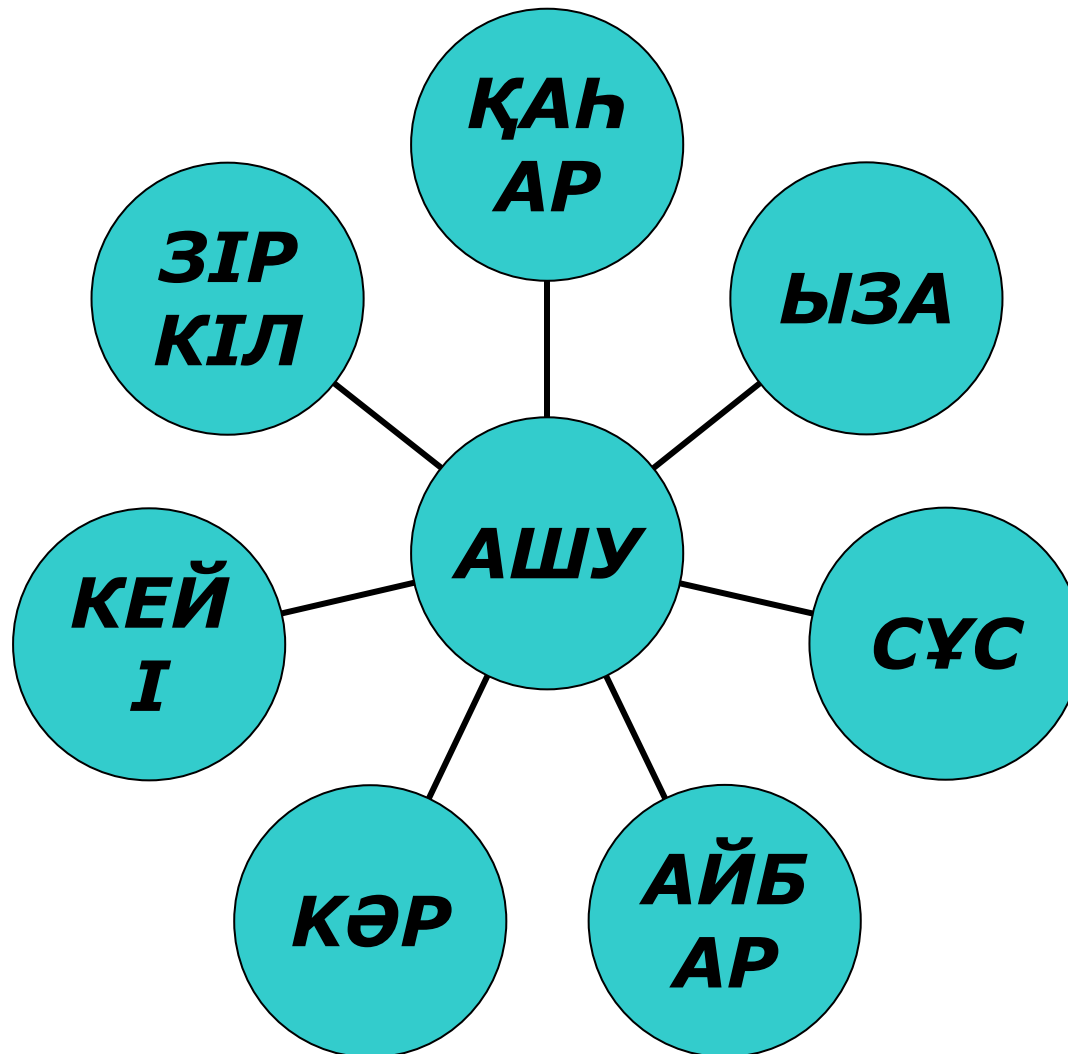

1. The notion of concept in cultural linguistics
2. The concept of “anger”: universal or culture specific?
3. Emotion and culture
4. The relationship of language and emotion
5. Etymology of the “anger” concept in the English language
6. Etymology of the “anger” concept in the Kazakh

5. (49 SYNONYMS)

-
- Dictionary.com <http://dictionary.reference.com>
 - Longman Dictionary of Contemporary English. Pearson Education Limited, 2001.
 - Online Etymology Dictionary, © 2001 Douglas Harper. URL: www.etymonline.com
 - The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, Fourth Edition Copyright, 2006 by Houghton Mifflin Company. Published by Houghton Mifflin Company. URL: <http://dictionary.reference.com>
 - Webster's NewWorld Dictionary of American English. Third College Edition. Updated Edition, New York, Prentice Hall, 1994.

6. (8 SYNONYMS)

-
- Қазақ әдеби тілінің сөздігі 7, 15, 9,10,12,2 томдары
 - Қазақша-орысша сөздік
www.sozdik.kz

PLAN OF THESIS (practical part)

1. Expression of “anger” in an English fiction.
 - Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through lexical devices.
 - Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through stylistic devices.
 - Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through phonetic and graphical devices.

2. Expression of “anger” in Kazakh fiction.

- Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through lexical devices.
- Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through stylistic devices.
- Representation of the emotion anger in fiction through phonetic and graphical devices.

LITERATURE VIEW материал для исследования (English)

- Look back in anger. John Osborne
- The Perfect Gardener. John le Carre.
- The Sittaford Mystery. Christie A.
- G. B. Pygmalion. B. Shaw
- The Picture of Dorian Gray. Wilde O.

LITERATURE VIEW (Kazakh)

- Қан мен тер. А. Нұрпеисов
- Прокуродның ажалы Б. Бодаубай
- Сұрапыл К. Қозыбаев

THANK YOU FOR YOUR ATTENTION!