Have Your Say Last week's competition

The journey from teenager to adult can bring joy and pain, success and failure, friendship and heartbreak. If you are riding the roller coaster of adolescence right now, then Psychology Magazine wants to hear from you.

Send us an article in which you describe some of the very best things about coming of age and discuss the most challenging aspects of life for people living through these 'in-between' years.

As usual, a selection of articles will be published in an upcoming edition of Psychology Magazine.

The winning article:

¹⁰ Adolescence: Pain and Pleasure in Equal Measure

by Josh Payne

Remember when you were little and school summer holidays seemed to go on forever? Being children, most of us lived carefree and happy lives. Sadly, this does not last and we must all grow up. I can reliably report that the process brings pain and pleasure in equal measure.

First, there is the pain. Adolescence is a time of huge physical and emotional change. For many of us this change is accompanied by feelings of self-doubt, envy and embarrassment. Apparently, we are neither children nor adults; asked to act like 'grown ups' in certain situations, but not in others. 'Be responsible and act your age... but be home by 9 p.m.!' These mixed messages can be hard to deal with. Add to this the pressure of schoolwork, and it is no wonder we sometimes feel unable to cope.

Thankfully, alongside the pain, there is also pleasure. Though we have to study, few of us need to worry about bills or housework. As a result, whether it is playing sport or online games, we have time to enjoy ourselves. On top of this, we have our friends. Pleasure and pain alike, can be shared with those who know exactly how we feel.

Despite the challenges, as far as I am concerned, the pleasure of being a young adult outweighs the pain. Although it may not always seem so now, perhaps in the future we will look back on adolescence as 'the best days of our lives'.

WRITING FOCUS

An article

Title

Attract the reader's attention from the start:

- 1 ask a question (Are These the Best Days of Our Lives?)
- 2 use vivid adjectives (Adolescence: Thrilling and Terrifying)
- 3 summarise the topic (The Pains and Pleasures of Adolescent Life)
- 4 use rhyme/wordplay (Top Ten Tips for Troubled Teens)

Introduction

Define the topic and hold the reader's attention:

- 5 ask a question
- 6 tell a short anecdote
- 7 give an interesting or surprising fact or figure
- 8 give a quotation

Main paragraphs

Develop the topic and discuss all the issues mentioned in the question.

Conclusion

Give your personal opinion and leave the reader with something to think about:

- 9 ask a question
- 10 refer to the future
- 11 make an appeal or suggestion
- 12 return to the idea in the title or the introduction

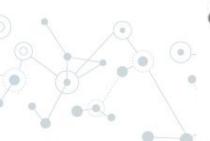

Note: Articles tend to be written in a formal or semiformal style. In a formal article avoid: informal phrases (I think = As far as I am concerned ...), colloquial language (Most parents reckon that ... = In most parents' opinions ...) and contractions (don't = do not). Read the example article introductions and conclusions. Decide which techniques 5–12 in the WRITING FOCUS the authors used.

Introductions:

- a It's easy to forget that 100 percent of adults alive today were once teenagers like us. As a young man, my 'sensible' father was a real rebel. He rode a motorbike and got a tattoo at the age of sixteen.
- b In his famous book, American author John Gray said that 'Men are from Mars, women are from Venus'. Does this also apply to adolescents? Are younger men and women really so different from each other?

Conclusions:

- c As I began by saying, men and women differ in many ways, but individuals also differ regardless of their gender. We should be wary of stereotyping, respect each other and cooperate to use our strengths for a common good.
- d So, as a regular teenage girl, am I really that different from the boy sitting opposite me in class? Perhaps not. Whether we will become more or less alike in later life remains to be seen.

30 This week's competition

There are many unfair gender-based stereotypes concerning the interests and attitudes of adolescents. As usual, a selection of articles will be printed in an upcoming edition of Psychology Magazine.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

- 8 You are going to reply to This week's competition on the Psychology Magazine website. Look at page 30, read the topic on the website and think about the following:
 - Where will your article appear and who will read it?
 - Choose two or three gender-based stereotypes you think are untrue or unfair (see Exercise 7 for ideas).
 Note down reasons to support your views.
 - Select techniques from the WRITING FOCUS to help you attract and hold the reader's attention.
 - · Make sure you use a formal or semi-formal style.
