Roald Dahl Fantastic Mr. Fox

Roald Dahl

was a best selling British children's author

Plot

Mr Fox is the good guy, looking out for his foxy family (at least that's how he sees it). Farmers Boggis, Bunce and Bean are certainly the baddies. In this battle of wits between farmer and "vermin", Mr Fox is tunnelling for food whilst the farmers are trying to dig him out. A simple tale told as only Dahl can.

"And when Mrs Fox had told him what she wanted, Mr Fox would creep down into the valley in the darkness of the night and help himself."

Main characters

- The Farmers

*«Boggis and Bunce and Bean
One fat, one short, one lean.
These horrible crooks
So different in looks
Were nonetheless equally mean».*

The Farmers are bad, greedy, dumb, rude and violent.

They do not arouse my sympathy.

Fox family

Mrs. Fox and four foxes is a united family and the good prop for housefather.

Other characters

Animals, who we can meet on the book's pages. They are miserable forest inhabitants who got into a trouble because of Mr. Fox and the nasty cellar Rat who didn't like Mr. Fox.

And of course...

Mr. Fox!!! I like his kindness, caring, intelligence, responsibility gumption. He has saved his family from starving to death and offered fantastic plan: to live underground without meeting people who bring only troubles to animals.

If you want to have a good time, read this book because:

- It's funny
 - It's wise and kind
 - It teaches us to work out solutions of all situations
 - It tells about love and family values
 - It's easy to read
 - There is a lot of humor

Thank you for attention!
