

Мазепа у творах відомих письменників

Джордж Байрон «Мазепа»

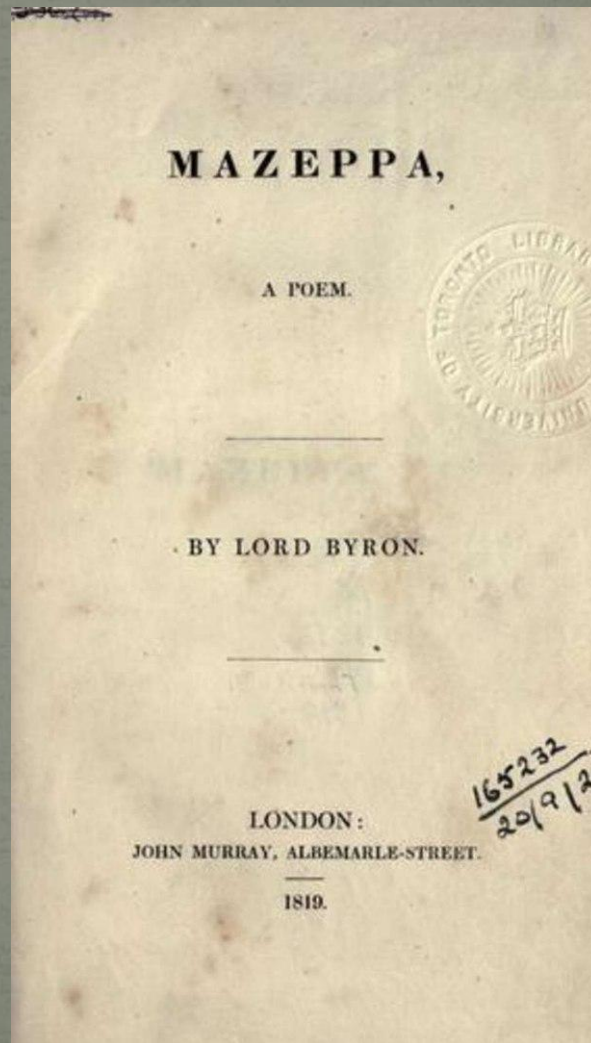

*Bring forth the horse! The horse was brought,
 In truth he was a noble steed,
 A Tartar of the Crimean breed,
 Who looked as though the spirit of strength
 Was in his limbs, but he was wild,
 Wild as the wild deer, and untaught,
 With spur and bridle unadorned,
 I tamed him in a day he had been caught;*

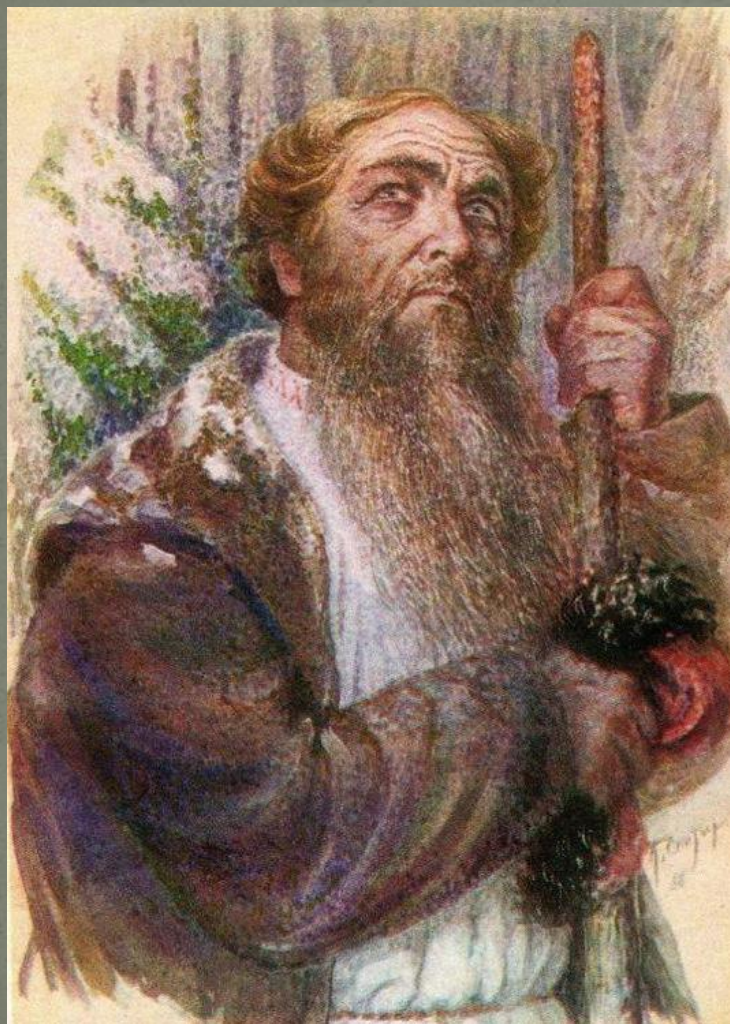

MAZEPPA.

*And struggling fiercely, but in vain
 In the full doubt of wrath and dread
 To see the disobeys was led,
 They found me in that mental wrong,*

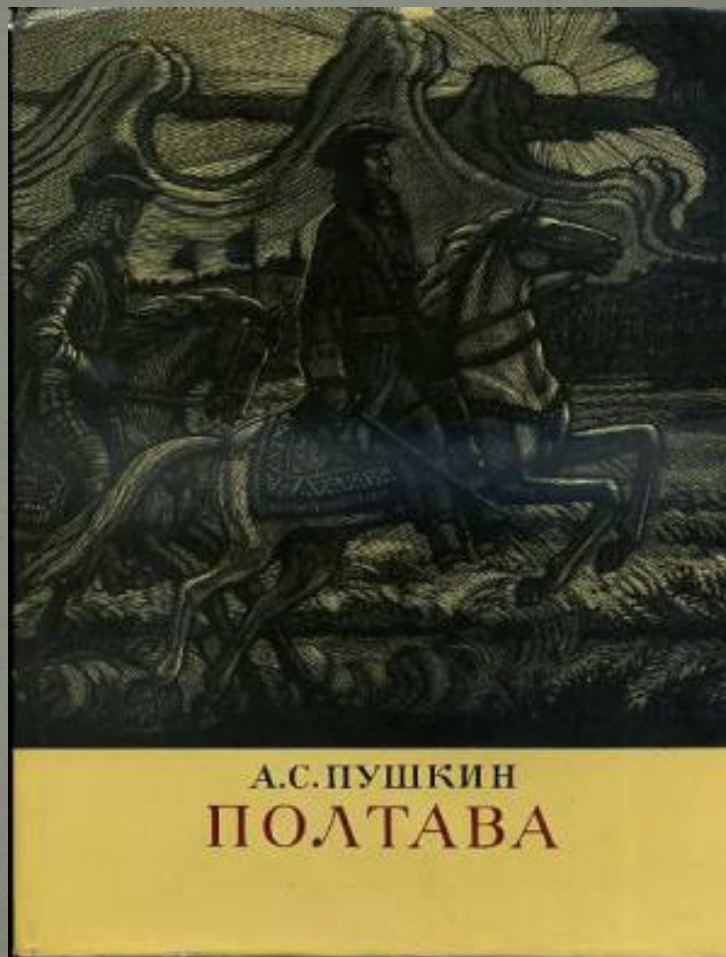

*He ran his back with many a thong,
 Then tossed him with a sudden lash—
 Away I flew, and on my death—
 I roared his rapid, and his rash.*

О. Пушкін «Полтава»
