

National holidays of india

BY: HUMA KAGZI
20LL5(A)

PROJECT PLAN

- 1.
  - Date and name of holiday

- 2.
  - Introduction

- 3.
  - History

- 4.
  - Dress

- 5.
  - Traditions

- 6.
  - Celebrations

- 7.
  - Attitude of youth towards it

- 8.
  - Conclusion

Date and name of holiday

- Name: Eid al adha
- Date: 10th day of dhul al hijjah according to Islamic calendar.

Introduction

- Eid al-Adha ('Feast of the Sacrifice') is the latter of the two Islamic holidays celebrated each year, and considered the holier of the two.
- On the day of Eid al-adha the commemoration of Hajj the annual Islamic pilgrimage to Mecca takes place.

History

- It has more of a religious history than of national.
- It signifies the understanding the father-son duo i.e. Prophet Abraham(pbuh) & Prophet Ishmael (pbuh) had and the faith they had in the almighty.

Dress

- Usually the men wear white kurta and pajama along with traditional headwear.
- The women dress up really nicely wearing traditional clothes viz. shalwar kameez , anarkali dress etc.

Traditions

- The day starts by the performance of communal prayer on its first day.
- The prayer usually takes place in an open space and is obligatory for men.

Traditions

- During the festival, families that can afford to sacrifice a ritually acceptable animal they do so and then divide the flesh equally among themselves, the poor, and the relatives.

Celebrations

- On the day of the festival a sweet treat is made in every household known as sheer khurma.
- It is also a time for visiting with friends and family and for exchanging gifts.

Attitude of youth

- The youth of india generally looks forward to each festival no matter of what religion it is.
- The youth finds happiness in happiness of their Muslim friends & colleagues and vice versa.

Conclusion

- In spite, of having so many diverse religions and cultures in india, we try to find unity in each kind of diversity.
- We all have always been taught to behave as one and that's what makes the festivals of india unique.

THANK YOU...

Anadolu Agency

