South Australia

Most of South Australia is too dry for farming. Wheat and fruit (apricots, pears, peaches and grapes) are grown along the Murray river.

The state of Western Australia is dry and inhospitable.

Most of the land is desert. (The Great Sandy Desert, the Gibson Desert, The Great Victoria Desert)

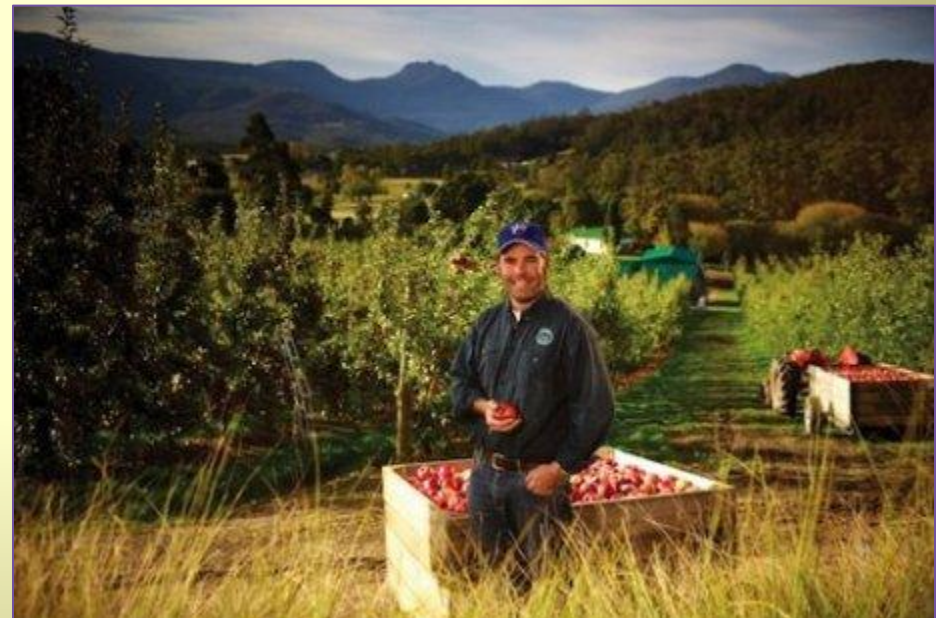

Northern Territory is the least populated part of Australia.

Crocodiles still live in some of the swamps along the coast.

Tasmania, the island state, is sometimes called the apple isle because it produces most of Australia's apples.
