Legends and history

A distinctive feature of the house is complete asymmetry, as well as a combination of natural and artificial materials during construction. In Soviet times, there was a tuberculosis sanatorium, where only high-ranking persons, as well as their children or relatives could go. In the late sixties, in the absence of those wishing to come here to recover, the sanatorium was closed. All kinds of legends go about the estate, up to the mention of ghosts and the mysterious disappearances of people.
