

A photograph of a law library. In the foreground, a silver balance scale sits on a reflective surface. Behind it, a wooden gavel rests on a book. The background is filled with rows of dark brown leather-bound books with gold lettering. The scene is lit with warm, golden light, creating a professional and scholarly atmosphere.

My profession is a lawyer

A Lawyer is a very responsible profession, the future of many people depends on the decisions of a specialist.

The lawyer is a specialist of a universal profile. He can solve juridical problems in different fields such as civil, labor, administrative, and other relations, and analyze the legal activities of companies. They can work successfully in any branch of law. The ability to collect business documents and legal documents necessary to protect the interests of citizens, pensioners and the elderly.

A lawyer must have professional competencies corresponding to the main types of professional activity:

- *ensuring the realization of citizens' rights in the field of pension provision and social protection;
- *to carry out professional interpretation of regulatory legal acts for realization of citizens' rights in the field of pension provision and social protection;
- *to carry out the reception of citizens on issues of pension provision and social protection;

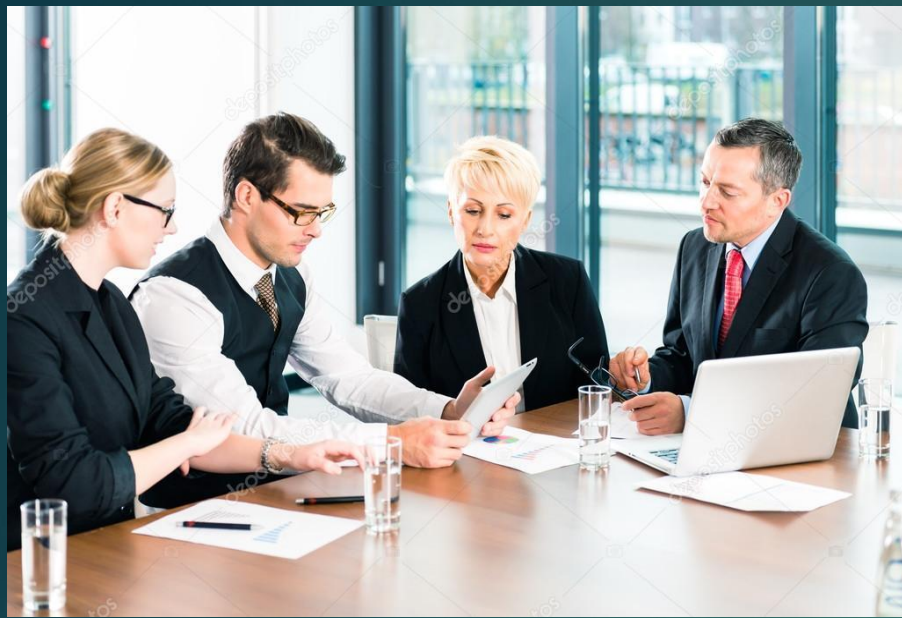

- * consider a documents for the appointment of pensions, allowances, compensations, other payments, as well as social support measures for certain categories of citizens, those in need of social protection;
- *to establish (assign, recalculate, transfer), index and adjust pensions, assign benefits, compensations and other social benefits using information and computer technologies;

* to form and store files of recipients of pensions, allowances and other social benefits;

*advise citizens and representatives of legal entities on pension provision and social protection;

*provide organizational support for the activities of social protection institutions and Pension Fund of the Russian Federation;

*keep databases of recipients of pensions, allowances, compensations and other social benefits, as well as services and benefits up to date;

*identify persons in need of social protection and register them using information and computer technologies;

*organize and coordinate social work with individuals, categories of citizens and families in need of social support and protection.