

Keys to Success

What does it take to achieve your goals?

THE PEOPLE YOU ADMIRE

What makes you proud?

What objectives would you like to have achieved in 5 years time?

Who do you admire?

Which two questions would you ask them if you had a chance?

What have these people achieved?

I imagine...	...might be...	...might have chosen this place because....	It looks as though...
My impression is that...	In all likelihood...	In contrast to the previous picture...	I'd say this kind of place attracts people who...
My guess would be that...			...could be...
Whereas the first picture shows..., this picture depicts...			It's not entirely clear who/what...
I suppose...	...must be...	Similarly...	...seems to be...
He/She is probably feeling...	I'm fairly sure that...	Judging by the fact that...	...appears to be...

What goals might each person have?
What might they do to achieve their goals? (1 min)

In which situation do you think the person might have to make the greatest sacrifices? (30 sec)

Why might the people feel proud in these situations?
How important might the feeling be to them?

Who do you think will feel proud for the longest time?
(30 sec)

Which two things will provide the most satisfaction in the long term. (1 min)

a joint effort
a determined effort
strenuous effort
give smth one's best shot
an uphill struggle

agility
a hard slog
reap the rewards
doomed to failure
pin one's hopes on

stand the test of time
a stroke of luck
turn out well/badly
not to put a foot wrong
abortive attempts

go from strength to strength
resounding success
come top/bottom
make a go of smth

Part 4.

How important is it to follow trends in fashion?

Do you think people's interests and priorities change as they get older? Why/Why not?

Some people say that having a high status is not the most important thing. What's your opinion?

What skills are the most important for living a successful life?

