

Jewish education for the Jewish youth in the FSU

Plan for 2021

Jewish education in the FSU

Jewish tradition has always been a synonym to a constant learning. EnerJew as a Jewish Youth Movement is a platform that opens opportunities for Jewish education to every teenage boy and girl.

A creative approach allows to develop a unique program content and to involve teens with Judaism and Yiddiskeit, that are becoming active members of their local Jewish community day by day.

To increase acknowledgment in Jewish culture and traditions, the next directions of work are planned for the 2021:

Active cooperation with local Jewish communities

Educational classes every Sunday for teens aged 12-17

Individual plan of development
(Leadership program) for Jewish teens across FSU lead by professional educators

Sunday educational classes

Collaboration with local Jewish communities

- Meeting with Rabbis and Rabbaniyot
- Support for local initiatives

Professional approach to education

- Prepared madrichs (group leaders)
- Individually developed educational plan for every club

Mentoring and consulting

- Regional supervisors trained to improve the professional qualifications of the coordinating team.
- Constant support for clubs in the process of program implementation.
