History of Eid eladha

When asked about the origin of Eid al-Adha, The Prophet of Islam, Muhammad, is reported to have said, “It is a tradition that has come down to us from Abraham.” The Feast of Sacrifice dates from the historic event when Prophet Abraham was commanded by God, in a form of a dream vision, to .sacrifice his son, Ishmail

Place of the Feast

Place of the Feast

Eid al-Adha, (Arabic: “Festival of Sacrifice”) ▣
the second of two great Muslim festivals, the other being Eid al-Fitr. Eid al-Adha marks the culmination of the hajj (pilgrimage) rites at Minā, Saudi Arabia, near Mecca, but is celebrated by Muslims throughout the world. As with Eid al-Fitr, it is distinguished by the performance of communal prayer (ṣalāt) at ..daybreak on its first day

Time of the Feast

It begins on the 10th of Dhū al-Ḥijjah, the last month of the Islamic calendar, and continues for an additional three days (though the Muslim use of a lunar calendar means that it may occur during any season of the year). During the festival, families that can afford to sacrifice a ritually acceptable animal (sheep, goat, camel, or cow) □

And then divide the flesh equally among themselves, the poor, and friends and neighbours. Eid al-Adha is also a time for visiting with friends and family and for exchanging gifts. This festival commemorates the ransom with a ram of the biblical patriarch Ibrāhīm's (Abraham's) son Ismā'īl (Ishmael) – rather than Isaac, as in Judeo-Christian tradition. See also mawlid; 'Āshūrā'

Traditions

The festivals extend to four days, which are the day of the sacrifice and the three days of Tashreeq. This creates an atmosphere of joy and happiness and it is an occasion for the hearts to rejoice and for the families to gather and to share nice moments. It is an occasion for Muslims to help the poor and to create more and more solidarity between the people. Good deeds and good moments are the pure goal of this .occasion

Benefit of this Feast

In addition to the joy that the Eid brings to the Muslims, This occasion carries a great spiritual, social and economic benefit for the Islamic community. On the spiritual level, the Muslim earns the rewards of the prayer, and of praising Allah “Takbiir and Tasbiih

Traditional Food

Roast lamb popular across all Middle-Eastern:1 countries

Traditional Food

There's no way you can celebrate Eid Al-Adha and not indulge yourself in some salacious roast lamb - a popular and traditional Eid dish across the Middle East! Lamb being the traditional Eid Al Adha food, every inch of this recipe screams Eid Mubarak! For this heavenly recipe to become a reality, the meat is coated with spices, herbs, and butter, before being slow roasted to savoury tenderness, in an oven

Conclusion

Eid al-Adha is very important because it brings people closer to each other, whether by visiting relatives to each other or helping the poor, which makes sure that there is no difference between rich or poor and also has a great benefit in terms of the economy because of the people's attempt to please their children and .buy them so-called Eid games

Conclusion

Small things intended to bring joy in the hearts of children, and therefore the most important goal of this holiday is joy and pleasure ▣
