

The image features a full-page background of a Union Jack flag. The flag has a distressed, vintage aesthetic with a visible paper-like texture and some dark, irregular staining or wear, particularly around the edges and within the white and red stripes. The colors are a deep red, a dark navy blue, and a weathered off-white or cream. In the center of the flag, the word "Stonehenge" is written in a white, elegant, italicized serif typeface.

Stages of building Stonehenge

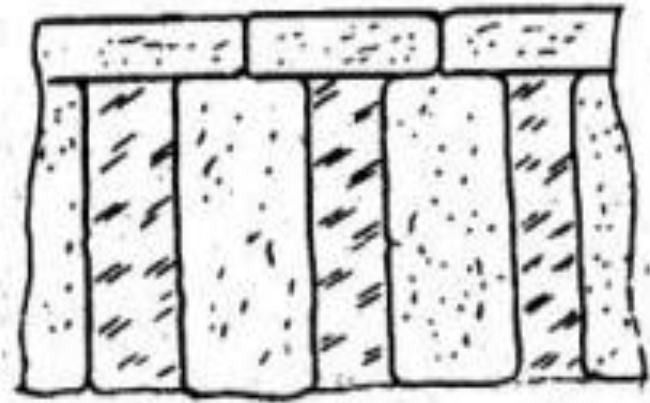

The first steps

- They built a mound on the ground.
- They pulled slabs up to the mound and put them into the long pits.
- They level the position upright.

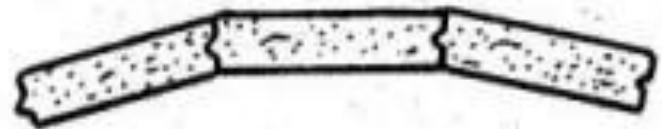

The next steps

- They put the lintels on the ground and joined them.
- They connected the lintels in a special way.
