Elmer

There was once a herd of elephants. They were all the same colour. They were all grey.

Then there was Elmer. Elmer was different. Elmer was multi-coloured! He was red and blue and pink and green and purple and white and black and yellow and orange. He was lots of different colours!
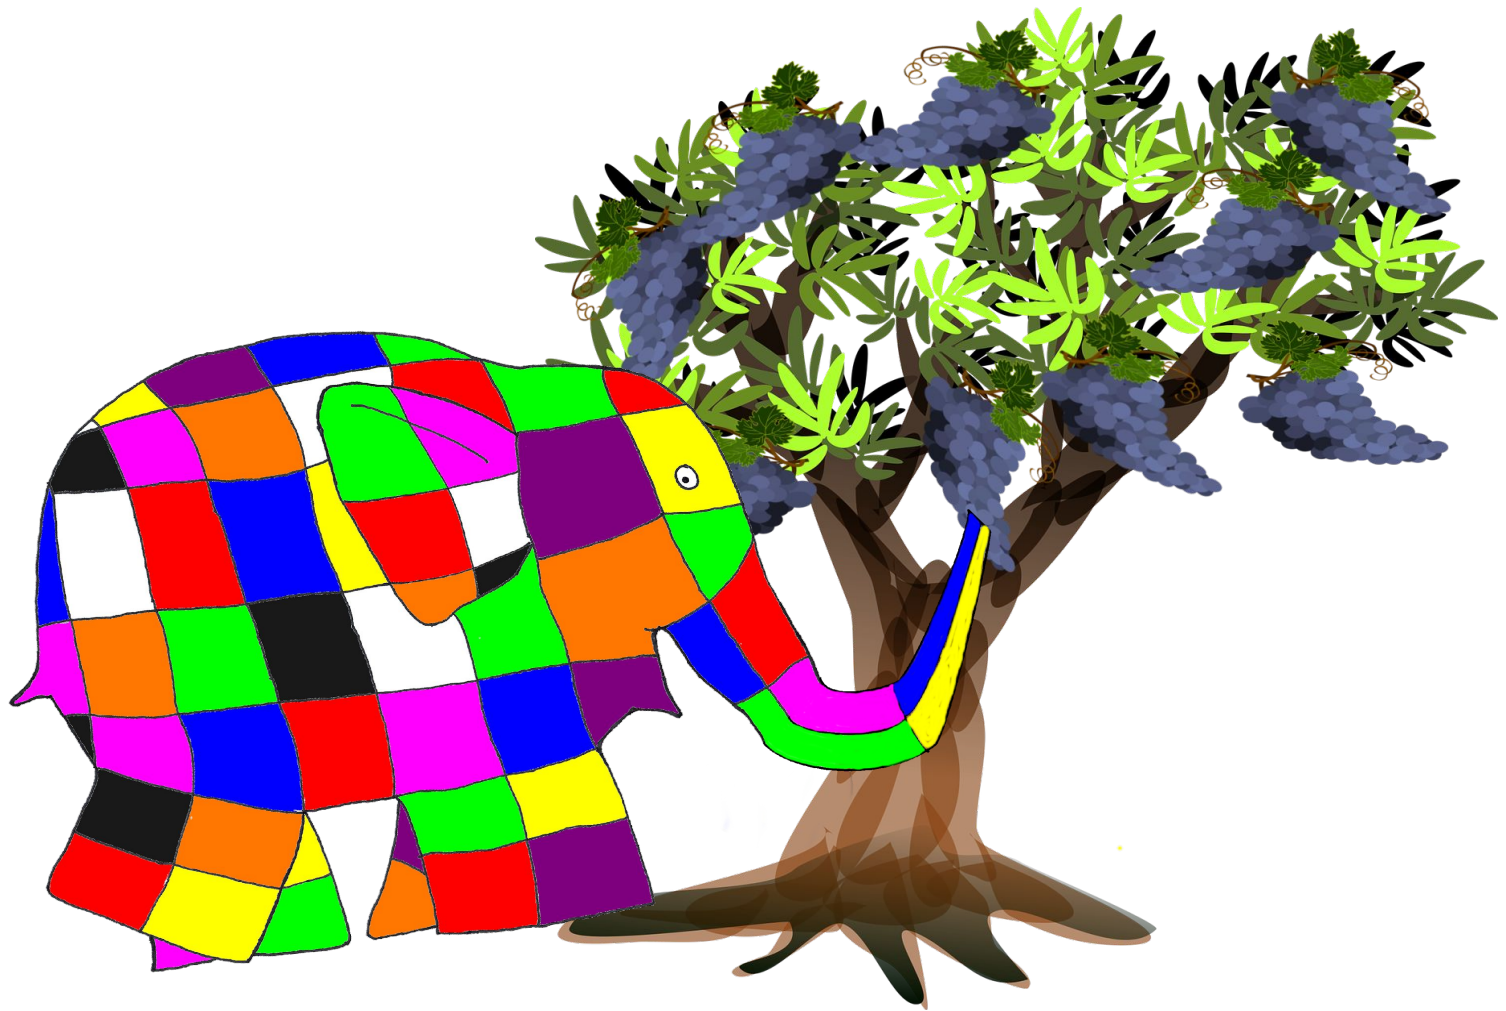

All the elephants loved Elmer. They played games.
Elmer made the elephants happy.

One day Elmer went for a walk in the jungle. All the animals said, "Hello Elmer!" Elmer said "Hello!" back.

Elmer found a tree with grey berries. He had an idea!

Elmer didn't like being different. He wanted to be grey like all the other elephants. He picked the grey berries and painted himself grey!

Now Elmer wasn´t multi-coloured. Elmer was grey just like all the other elephants. He walked through the jungle. None of the animals recognised him. They said "Hello ELEPHANT"!
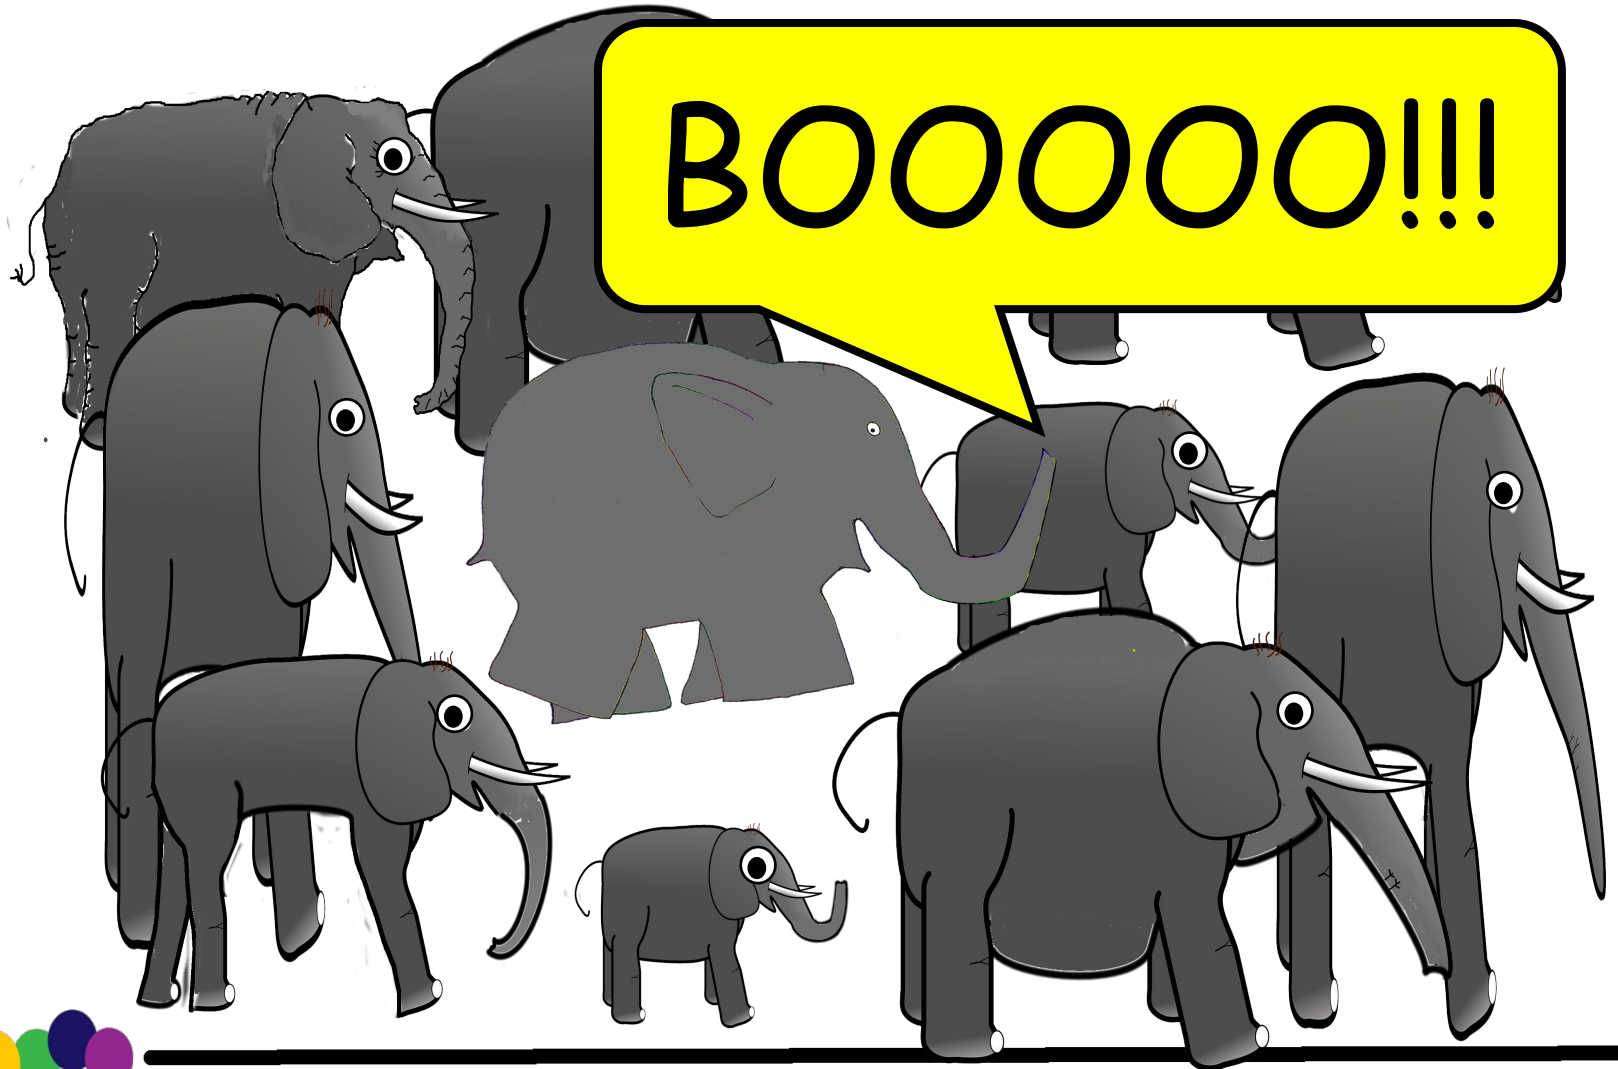

The elephants couldn´t see Elmer because Elmer was grey. Elmer knew something was wrong. He opened his mouth and......
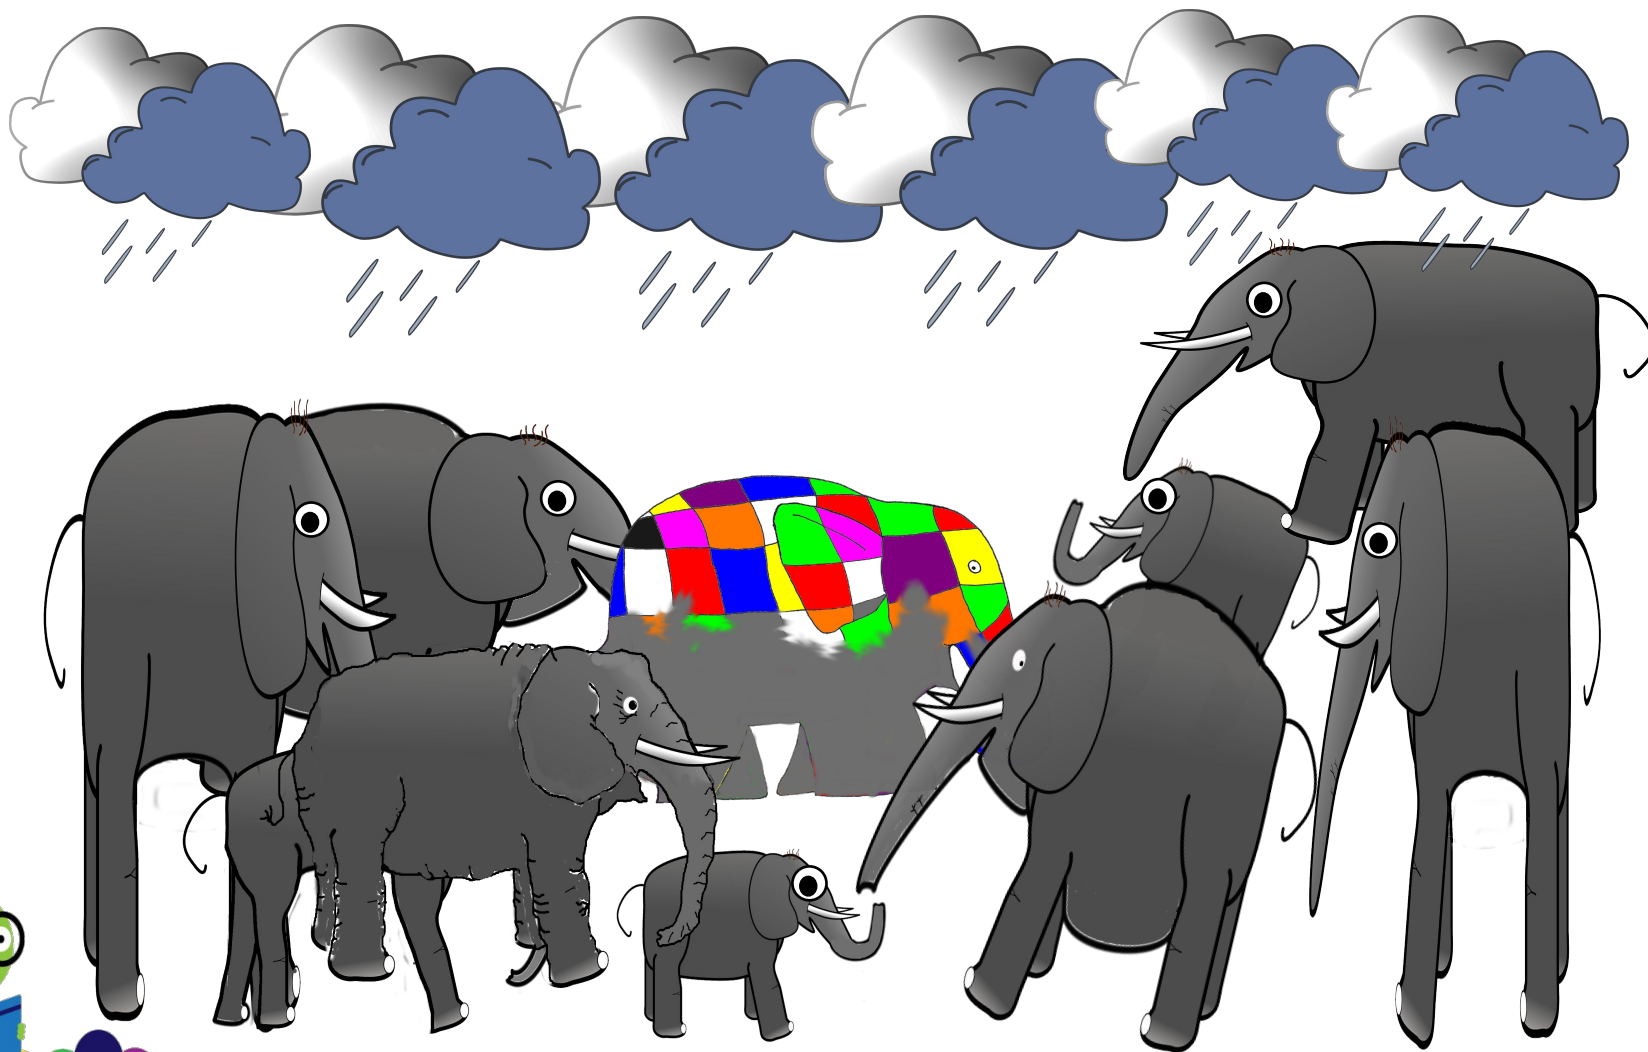

Elmer shouted BOOOOOOOOO! All of the elephants jumped! What a surprise!

It started raining. The rain washed the grey away. The elephants laughed. "It's ELMER!", they shouted.

Now, one day every year, the elephants paint themselves a different colour. They have a party! It's fun to be different.
