

Traditional Russian winter costume

+ Князев Евгений 86

About costume

- + Usually this costume was sewn from sheepskin or rabbit pelts. The royal family wore sable fur coats. It consisted of these things: Hat with earflaps, a wool scarf, a fur coat and a felt boots. The winter garments of all segments of the population were marked by layering, heat. These days these costumes are in museum windows, but in faraway parts of the country some people still wear them.

