

A nighttime photograph of a cityscape, likely Omsk, Russia. The image is dimly lit, with various buildings and structures illuminated by streetlights and building lights. A prominent feature is a church with a tall, ornate spire and a golden dome, located on the left side of the frame. The city extends into the distance, with a grid of lights suggesting a large urban area. The overall atmosphere is quiet and urban.

A nighttime photograph of a cityscape. On the left, a large, ornate cathedral with multiple domes and a tall spire is illuminated with blue and white lights. The rest of the city is lit up with warm yellow streetlights and the lights of modern buildings in the background. The sky is a deep twilight blue. The text "Спасибо за внимание" is overlaid in the center of the image.
