As you become older, you realize there are several essential things and places you always long to come back to.

They are your birthplace, your home and the school you went to.

My school was a three-storied building situated in one of the residential districts of our city.

All the children from the neighbourhood went there because it was a walking distance from their homes.

There was a sports ground behind the school-building and a green lawn with flower beds in front of it. The school was built a few years ago. That's why its classrooms were light and spacious.

There were maps and portraits, tables and charts on the walls of the classrooms.

Our classroom was on the second floor. Its windows faced the schoolyard. She appeared to be a very kind and knowledgeable teacher. She taught us Algebra and Geometry. We respect her very much.

We had six lessons a day. Every pupil had a daybook where the teachers wrote down the mark each pupil had earned for answers. When the teacher asked a question, the pupils who could answer it raised their hands, and the teacher called out one of them to answer the question.

After every lesson the teachers gave us some home assignments both written and oral. At the next lesson the teachers checked them up. If there were any mistakes they corrected them and gave us marks. At the end of each quarter we got our report cards which our parents signed. At the end of the study year we were promoted to the next form.
