Exceptions:

Yes/No questions do not use a question word...

...but they still follow ASM (Auxiliary verb – Subject – Main verb)

- Do you like bananas?
- Did you enjoy the movie?
- Are you studying English?
- Were you sleeping when I called you last night?
- Have you finished your homework?
- Will you call me when you get home?
- Are you going to accept the job offer?
- Should we take the early morning flight?

Questions where the main verb is “be” also don’t follow the pattern:

- Are you thirsty?
- Is she a teacher?
- Were your parents angry when you failed the test?
- Was her ex-boyfriend a basketball player?

What is reported speech?

“Reported speech” is when we talk about what somebody else said – for example:

Direct Speech: “I’ve been to London three times.”

Reported Speech: She said she’d been to London three times.

We often use “reported speech” when talking about a conversation that happened in the past. There are some changes to the verbs with reported speech; read the table to find out how each verb tense changes:

DIRECT SPEECH	REPORTED SPEECH	EXAMPLE
Simple present	Simple past	"I want to go home." She said she wanted to go home.
Present continuous	Past continuous	"I'm reading a good book." She said she was reading a good book.
Simple past	Past perfect	"I ate pasta for dinner last night." She said she'd eaten pasta for dinner last night.
Present perfect	Past perfect	"I've just finished cleaning my room." She said she'd just finished cleaning her room."My mother has never been to Japan." She said her mother had never been to Japan.
Can / can't	Could / couldn't	"I can meet with you next Monday." She said she could meet with me next Monday."Sorry, I can't talk now. I'm at work." She said she couldn't talk at the moment because she was at work.
Will / won't	Would / wouldn't	"I'll pick him up at the airport." She said she'd pick him up at the airport."I won't tell anybody your secret." She said she wouldn't tell anybody my secret.

Be careful: “said” and “told” have a small difference.

After “told,” we need to include a person:

- She said she wanted to go home.
- She told me she wanted to go home.
- She told John that she wanted to go home.
- ~~She told she wanted to go home.~~
- ~~She said me that she wanted to go home.~~

What Are Indirect Questions?

Direct questions are the “normal” questions that we can ask friends, family members, and people who we know well. You can form direct questions using the QUASM model that we learned last lesson.

Example of a direct question:

“Where’s the bathroom?”

Indirect questions are a little more formal and polite. We use them when talking to a person we don’t know very well, or in professional situations, and their form is a little different.

Example of an indirect question:

“Could you tell me where the bathroom is?”

Phrases For Indirect Questions

- Could you tell me...
- Do you know...
- I was wondering...
- Do you have any idea...
- I'd like to know...
- Would it be possible...
- Is there any chance...

Direct And Indirect Questions In English: Examples

Direct: Where is Market Street?

Indirect: Could you tell me where Market Street is?

In indirect questions with is/are, the verb (is) comes after the subject (Market Street).

Direct What time does the bank open?

Indirect: Do you know what time the bank opens?

In indirect questions, we don't use the auxiliary verbs do/does/did. Also, you can see that the verb is "open" in the direct question, and "opens" in the indirect question.

Direct: Why did you move to Europe?

Indirect: I was wondering why you moved to Europe.

Again, there is no auxiliary verb did in the indirect question. In fact, this indirect question isn't even a question – it's more of a statement that invites the other person to give more information.

Direct: How has he managed to get in shape so quickly?

Indirect: Do you have any idea how he's managed to get in shape so quickly?

The auxiliary verbs have and has can be used in both the direct and indirect questions – but in the direct question, “has” comes before the subject (he), and in the indirect question, “has” comes after the subject.

Direct: How much does this motorcycle cost?

Indirect: I'd like to know how much this motorcycle costs.

To form the indirect question, remove does and change “cost” to “costs.”

Direct: Can you finish the project by tomorrow?

Indirect: Would it be possible for you to finish the project by tomorrow?

For direct questions with can, we can use the phrase “would it be possible...” to make it indirect.

Direct: Can we change the meeting to Thursday?

Indirect: Is there any chance we could change the meeting to Thursday?

“Is there any chance...” is another option for forming indirect questions with can.

Yes/No Direct Questions → “If” In Indirect Questions

If the direct question is a “yes or no” question (it has no question word such as what, who, when, where, why, or how), then the indirect question will have if.

Direct: Does Tom like Italian food?

Indirect: Do you know if Tom likes Italian food?

Direct: Are your parents joining us for dinner?

Indirect: Could you tell me if your parents are joining us for dinner?

Direct: Do they speak English?

Indirect: I was wondering if they speak English.

Direct: Has Barbara ever studied abroad?

Indirect: Do you have any idea if Barbara's ever studied abroad?

Direct: Do you plan on traveling this summer?

Indirect: I'd like to know if you plan on traveling this summer.

OBJECT QUESTIONS IN ENGLISH

Most questions in English are object questions – we want to know about the receiver of the action. These questions follow the QUASM formula: Question word – Auxiliary verb – Subject – Main verb.

For questions in the simple present, the auxiliary verbs are do and does:

- What do you want to drink?
We want some fruit juice.
- Who does Karen like?
Karen likes Fred.
- What does smoking cause?
Smoking causes cancer.

For questions in the simple past, the auxiliary verb is did:

- What did Daniel make?
Daniel made a sandwich.
- What did the earthquake damage?
The earthquake damaged my house.
- Who did Jennifer lie to?
Jennifer lied to Sam.

SUBJECT QUESTIONS IN ENGLISH

However, sometimes we want to ask about the subject. We don't know the person or thing who performed the action, and we want to find out.

This type of question is called a subject question, and subject questions do NOT use the auxiliary verbs do, does, and did.

How to form subject questions:

- Who / What + verb in simple present or simple past + object ?

Examples of subject questions in the simple present:

- Who wants some fruit juice?
We want some fruit juice.
- Who likes Fred?
Karen likes Fred.
- What causes cancer?
Smoking causes cancer.

Examples of subject questions in the simple past:

- Who made a sandwich?
Daniel made a sandwich.
- What damaged your house?
The earthquake damaged my house.
- Who lied to Sam?
Jennifer lied to Sam.

SUBJECT AND OBJECT QUESTIONS IN OTHER VERB TENSES

In other verb tenses – present continuous, present perfect, etc. – the auxiliary verbs are forms of the verbs be and have. In these verb tenses, we still use the verbs be and have in both subject and object questions:

Present continuous:

- Subject Q: Who is washing the car?
- Object Q: What is Paul washing?
- Answer: Paul is washing the car.

Past continuous:

- Subject Q: Who was talking about the problem?
- Object Q: What was the manager talking about?
- Answer: The manager was talking about the problem.

Present perfect:

- Subject Q: Who has spent $1000 on a computer?
- Object Q: How much have your parents spent on a computer?
- Answer: My parents have spent $1000 on a computer.

Present perfect continuous:

- Subject Q: Who has been working on this project?
- Object Q: What have you been working on?
- Answer: I have been working on this project.

Future with WILL:

- Subject Q: What will help the students?
- Object Q: Who will this book help?
- Answer: This textbook will help the students.

Future with GOING TO:

- Subject Q: Who is going to order dessert?
- Object Q: What are you going to order?
- Answer: We are going to order dessert.

THE SIMPLEST RULE FOR SUBJECT/OBJECT QUESTIONS

When you are going to ask a question in the simple present or simple past using who or what, ask yourself,

“Am I asking about the doer of the action or the receiver of the action?”

If you're asking about the doer/subject, then DON'T use do/does/did:

- ~~Who does want fruit juice?~~
Who wants fruit juice?
- ~~What did damage your house?~~
What damaged your house?

If you're asking about the receiver/object, then YES – use do/does/did:

- What do you want to drink?
- What did the earthquake damage?
