

Omsk Institute of Water Transport

OUR MOTTO IS

True course in the ocean of life

English in my life

Watching movies,
reading books,
listening songs in the original

Work and travel
around the world

Communication with people from different countries

My Professions

Navigators responsible for the navigational equipment, charts and plotting the course, path on the water, loading cargo.

Electrical engineers responsible for the electrical equipment on the vessel, repairing the air-conditioning system.

Ships engineers responsible for the engine repairs of the vessel, lubricating the pumps.

Technicians of water ways responsible for the construction and operation of hydraulic structures.

English is an international maritime language. Seamen of all countries of the world speak English at sea and in foreign ports. The International Maritime Organization (IMO) has worked out the Standard Marine Navigational Vocabulary in 1977.

English in my profession

Provides:

Career progress

Understanding in the team with foreign mates

Communication with foreign partners

A higher salary

English is an international maritime language.

Role of English in society

