A large bonfire of sticks and branches is burning brightly on the left side of the frame, casting a warm orange glow. In the foreground on the right, a person with long dark hair is seen in profile, holding up a smartphone to film the event. Another person is partially visible behind them, also holding a phone. In the background, a large crowd of people is gathered on a flat, open area, watching the fire under a dark twilight sky. The overall atmosphere is one of a public festival or celebration.
