Aloe Vera

Aloe Vera is a succulent, found in warm and dry climates and is a true skin herb. Inside its thick, fleshy, green leaves is nutrient rich aloe gel that contains potassium, zinc, magnesium, and vitamins A and C, giving aloe vera its skin-soothing properties.

Chamomile

The pretty, daisy-like flowers of sweet smelling Chamomile, have been used for centuries to aid rest and relaxation. Chamomile is rich in skin friendly antioxidants, and has antibacterial properties that can also benefit skin.

Orange

Besides its sweet and juicy taste, orange can be beneficial to skin due to its high level of antioxidants, that can help skin fight damaging free-radicals. Oranges are packed with citric acid, a natural skin exfoliator, that can help skin glow.

May Chang

The May Chang tree is native to Asia and bears small fruits and white and yellow, citrus scented flowers. The zingy fruit, also known as 'Mountain Pepper,' is known for its skin revitalising benefits, due to the fruit's astringent properties.
