Lemures

The word lemur comes from the Latin. It means “a ghost”.

They live silently at night and have large mysterious eyes.

They live on the Earth very many years only on Madagascar
and Comoro island.

They are of different colours and sizes.

The biggest weighs 30 kilos and the smallest weighs 30 grams.

They eat nuts, fruits and berries.

Sometimes they can eat insects,
but their favourite food is dates.

Babies are always with their mums. Lemurs are shy but curios.

But it's dangerous, you know,
because curiosity killed the cat.
