Australia is a continent and it's also an English-speaking country. Its capital is Canberra and three of its largest cities are Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. Australia is the sixth largest country in the world, but only about twenty-five million people live there. Desert covers most of the land, so about eighty percent of the people live on the coast. The climate is better there. But some people live in unusual places. One of them is a small town called Coober Pedy.

Coober Pedy is in the South Australian desert. On summer days, it can be as hot as 47°C! For this reason, more than half the people live under the ground. The temperature is always comfortable there. Underground homes have kitchens, bathrooms, bedrooms and living rooms. Everyday life in Coober Pedy is not very different from any other town. People go to work or school, do their household chores, watch TV and spend time with friends and family.

Coober Pedy has lots of visitors every year. People come to stay in the underground hotels. There are also underground shops, cafés and museums. On summer nights, when it isn't too hot, people can go above the ground and play golf in the world's only golf course without grass. It's not easy to lose golf balls because they are glow-in-the-dark!
