Hello
Every One

Creation of the world's first website

Timothy Berners-Lee

Website concept

A website is information presented in a certain form, which is located on a web server and has its own name (address)

Which way to create a website to choose?

using website builders, using CMS systems, by self-writing the source code of the site

Front-end development

Front-end development is the creation of the client side of the site

Technology HTML5 vs FLASH

CONCLUSION