Traditions Of Scotland

Scotland was formerly an independent Kingdom in Northern Europe until 1707, and is now the most Autonomous part of all the parts that make up the United Kingdom of great Britain and Northern Ireland. Edinburgh is the capital of Scotland.

> Performed:Fedorenko Dana Group:136

Flag of Scotland-image of St. Andrew's cross on a sky-blue cloth

St. Andrew the first-called is the patron Saint of Scotland.

Coat Of Arms Of Scotland. No one will touch me with impunity.

IMPUNE

ME

EFENS

Heraldic unicorn

 The unicorn is a symbol of purity and purity, often found on the shields of coats of arms.
A pair of unicorns are shield holders in the coat of arms of Scotland.

Scottish thistle – Thistle flower, a semi-official national symbol of Scotland.

Haggis – national dish

Haggis is a national Scottish dish of lamb giblets (heart, liver and lungs), chopped with onions, oatmeal, lard, seasonings and salt and cooked in a lamb's stomach. The dish looks like stuffed animal guts or homemade sausage. Haggis is served with a side dish of "NIPs and tatties" (translated from Scottish — rutabaga and potatoes), crushed to a puree. There are also vegetarian Haggis recipes

The national dish rollmops

 Rolmops – pickled herring, rolled into rolls, the rolls are fastened with wooden sticks. Inside add gherkin or onion.

Kiot small

A kilt is an item of men's clothing, especially a men's Scottish skirt. The "small" kilt is the lower part of the" large " kilt, presumably invented in 1725. The Englishman Rawlinson.

Скин ду в составе мужского костюма

Истинный горец за своим правым чулком должен носить нож, на рукоятке которого выгравирован цветок чертополоха и вправлен топаз. Если горец всовывал нож с внутренней стороны ноги, то это означало объявление войны. Мирные люди носят нож всегда с внешней стороны.

Highland dancing

Scottish dances were performed by highlanders in their picturesque national costumes to the music of bagpipes.

bag-pipe

7

5

3

An old Celtic instrument. It is a reservoir made from the skin of a sheep or goat, turned inside out (goose), to which three Bourdon tubes (drones), one tube with eight playing holes (chanter) and a special short tube for blowing air are attached (tied). It has a simplified air supply through a blowpipe-provides freedom to the right hand.

Playing the bagpipes

When playing, the Piper fills the tank with air and, pressing it with the elbow of the left hand, makes the sound of Bourdon and gaming tubes, in turn, equipped with special tabs (canes), and in the Bourdon tubes, single canes are used, and in the gaming tube, double canes made of reeds.

