

What is February 14th ?

The fourteenth of February is to tell your loved one about your feelings. But in many countries the meaning of this holiday is unique in its own way.

It also consists in giving each other gifts and valentines. But in countries like Germany, by tradition, gifts are not given. Because for them it is a day of the mentally ill. Instead of gifts, they decorate psychiatric hospitals and hold services.

So what is customary to give on this day?
In our country, it is customary to give valentines, and also sweets and cute toys at will. But in other countries, they donate not only valentines. And it is also customary to confess your feelings.

And on the whole, this holiday is about giving each other attention and care, and receiving it in return.

Thank for your attention!

Wish you a happy Valentine's Day!
