

WHAT'S DIFFERENT?

THERE IS / THERE ARE / THERE WAS / THERE WERE

by Herber

What's different?

LAST NIGHT

- > There was a police officer pursuing a thief.
- > There was a man walking his dog.
- > There were two children fighting.

RIGHT NOW

- > There is a police officer giving a ticket.
- > There is a man sweeping the street.
- > There are two children playing with a ball.

Answer the questions

LAST NIGHT

RIGHT NOW

- > Was there a police officer giving a ticket last night?
No, there wasn't. There was a police officer pursuing a thief.
- > Is there a man walking his dog right now?
No, there isn't. There is a man sweeping the street.
- > Were there two children playing with a ball last night?
No, there weren't. There were two children fighting.

What's different?

LAST EVENING

- > There was a helicopter flying over a cow.
- > There was a cow eating grass.
- > There was a boy riding a bike.

RIGHT NOW

- > There is a plane looping in the sky.
- > There is a sheep looking at the plane.
- > There is a boy riding a motorbike.

Answer the questions

LAST EVENING

RIGHT NOW

- > Was there a plane looping in the sky last evening?
No, there wasn't. There was a helicopter flying over a cow.
- > Is there a boy riding a bike right now?
No, there isn't. There is a boy riding a motorbike.
- > Was there a sheep looking at a plane last evening?
No, there wasn't. There was a cow eating grass.

What's different?

THIS EARLY MORNING

- > There was a rooster crowing.
- > There was a green bird flying in the sky.
- > There was a boy riding a horse.

RIGHT NOW

- > There is a hen incubating some eggs.
- > There is a blue bird flying in the sky.
- > There is a girl riding a horse.

Answer the questions

THIS EARLY MORNING

RIGHT NOW

- > Was there a blue bird flying in the sky this early morning?
No, there wasn't. There was a green bird flying in the sky.
- > Is there a girl riding a horse right now?
No, there isn't. There is a boy riding a horse.
- > Was there a hen incubating some eggs this morning?
No, there wasn't. There was a rooster crowing.