A blue-toned photograph of a business meeting. Several people are silhouetted against a large window with vertical blinds. The sun is shining through the window, creating a bright lens flare. The people are sitting around a long table, some looking at documents. On the right, two people are standing and talking. The floor is highly reflective, showing a clear mirror image of the people and the window. A dark grey diagonal shape is overlaid on the left side of the image, containing white text.
