

Areas of law

Выполнила:

Игнатьева Виктория Викторовна

1 курс, юриспруденция

National law

- There are some levels of national law:
 - National
 - Law at the state
 - Regional
 - Local

International law

- International law is necessary for regulating relations between governments and between private citizens of one country and those of another

Civil law

- Civil law is an area of law that helps to settle disputes among citizens within a country

Civil law

- Purpose of civil law is to right a wrong, honour an agreement, or settle a dispute

Civil law

- Main categories of civil law:
 - Law of contract
 - Law of tort
 - Law of trust
 - Probate law
 - Company law
 - Employment law
 - Land law
 - Family law
 - Intellectual property law

Public law

- The main purpose of public law is to settle disputes between subjects of law (citizens, companies) and the state

Criminal law

- Criminal law deals with crimes which harm the well-being of society, and the main purpose of criminal law is to deter other people from committing similar wrongs

Constitutional law

- Constitutional law states the citizen's rights and duties, regulates the relationships between different branches of the state

Administrative law

- Administrative law regulates international trade, taxation, environment protection, manufacturing

Criminal and civil procedures

- The difference between criminal and civil procedures is that the party bringing a criminal action (that is in most cases the state) is called the prosecution, and the party bringing a civil action is called the claimant

Criminal law

- Example:
On June 8, 2016 in Samara, the court considered the case of an attempted secret theft of someone else's property

Civil law

- Example:
On March 30, 2021, in the Irkutsk region, the court considered the case of violation of labor rights in terms of non-payment of wages

Thank you for the attention!