- Teen Wolf is a youth mystery-drama series produced in the United States based on the 1985 film of the same name, commissioned by MTV.

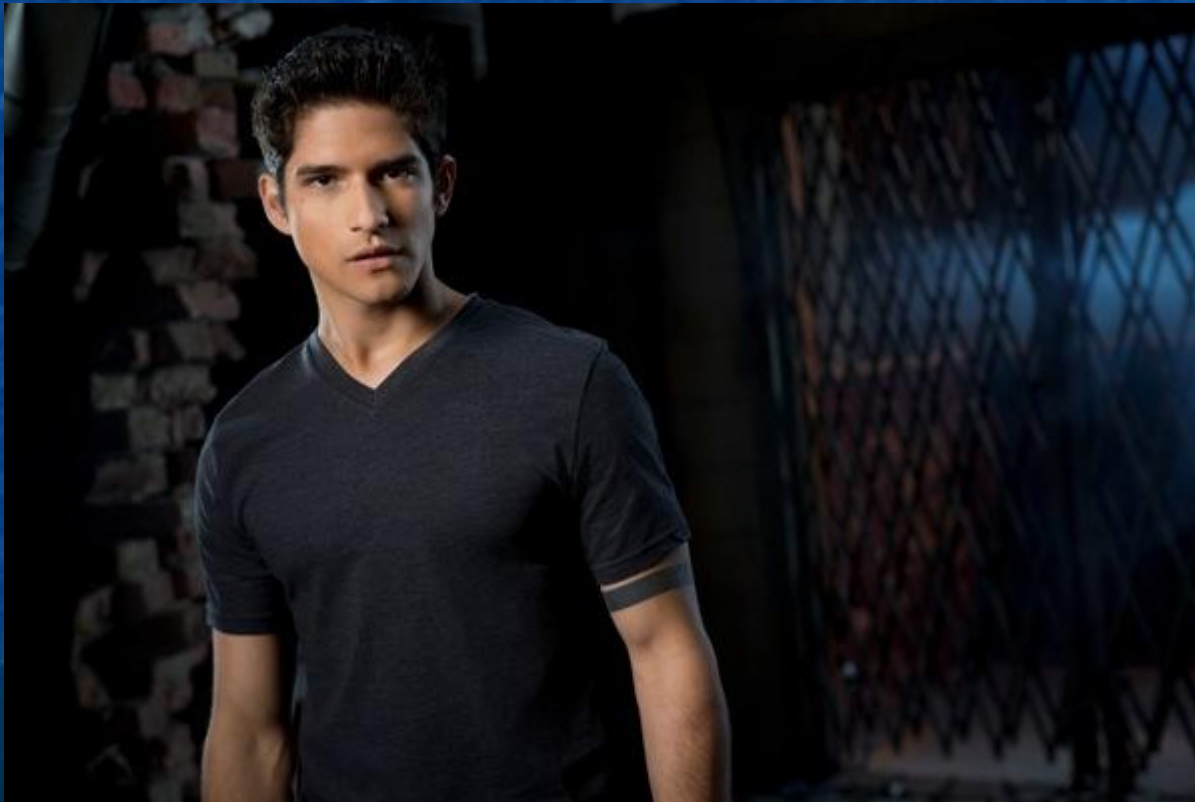

Plot

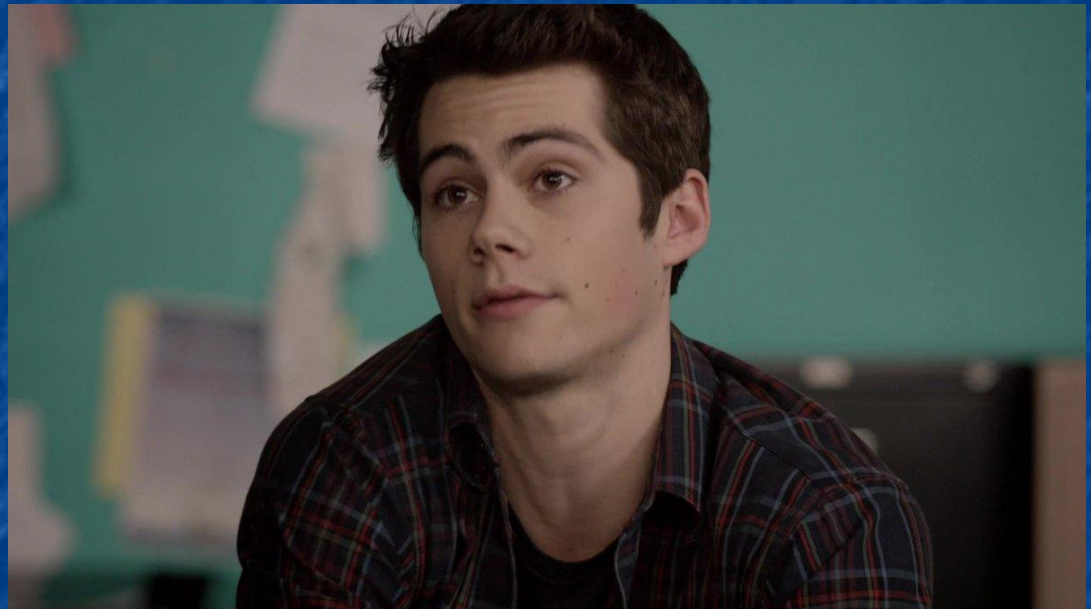

- The series tells the story of a young outcast named Scott McCall, who one night finds himself in the woods in search of a dead body. There, he is attacked by a mysterious beast that resembles a huge wolf. The creature bites him, and soon Scott begins to realize that something inside him is changing a lot-now every full moon, he turns into a werewolf!

Into the role

- Tyler Posey — Scott McCall

Dylan O'brien-Stiles Stilinski

Holland Roden — Lydia Martin

Crystal Reed — Allison Argent

Colton Haynes-Jackson Whittemore

History of creation

- In June 2009, MTV announced that it was going to shoot a new version of the classic 1985 youth Comedy with Michael J. Fox — according to them, the project will be more serious, it will expand the mythology of the werewolf universe, and will also be a genre mix of drama, romantic Comedy and horror film.
- This is the second TV adaptation of the film after the animated series of the same name created by CBS and aired from 1986 to 1987.
- Australian Director Russell Malkai took a pilot version of the series.
- Filming for the first 12 episodes of the show began in October 2010 in Atlanta, Georgia.
