

Smoke detector

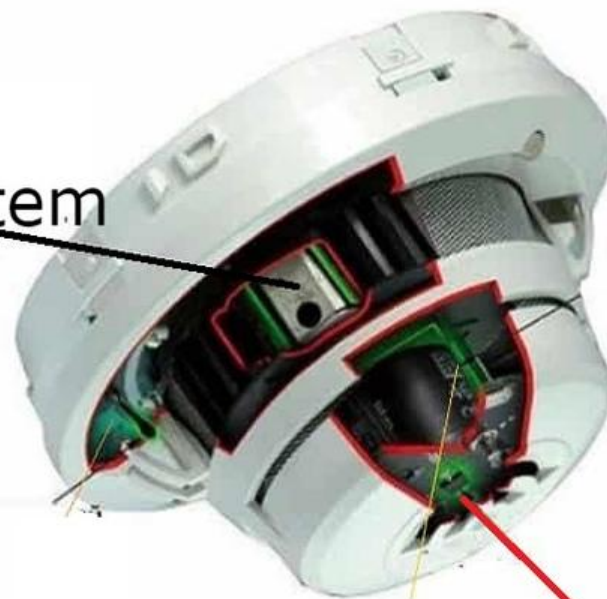

A standard smoke detector consists of a body an electronic board and an optical system.

Body

Optical system

Electronic board

When smoke appears, it penetrates into the body of the device.

Optical system

