Travelling in My Mind

Instead of travelling the world for real,
I travel it in my mind,
I'm fond of visiting distant lands,
Where people are always kind.
When I'm sleeping in my bed at night
I wander in my dreams,
And drift¹ away to Southern Sea
Islands,
Sun and sparkling² streams.

Chorus:

'Cause I'm a mind traveller!
I travel anywhere I please!
Yes, I'm a mind traveller!
Don't care about the mountains
or the sea

While others give up travelling when
Their money's all been spent,
I keep on roaming³ round the world:
I'm happy and content.

If I don't feel like seeing Spain,
I just don't go, that's all.
'Cause I can close my eyes and go
To any place at all.

Chorus:

So I'm a mind traveller!

While others insist on packing bags
And getting into a daze⁴,
I wonder if they have the strength
To enjoy their holidays.
I'm tired of gazing⁵ at monuments
And photographing views.
I get fed up with crowded trains
And standing in long queues.

Chorus:

So I'm a mind traveller!

OR PASSIVE

What would you like to see in the UK?

“Britain is a world by itself”

William Shakespeare

The Restless Boy

There was once a restless boy
Who lived in a home by the sea,
Where the water danced for joy,
And the wind was glad and free.
But he said, "Good mother, oh!

Let me go;
For the dullest place in the world,
I know,
Is this little brown house,
This old brown house,
Under the apple-tree.

I will travel east and west;
The loveliest homes I'll see;
And when I have found the best,
Dear mother, I'll come for thee²
I'll come for thee in a year and a day,
And joyfully then we'll haste³ away
From this little brown house,
This old brown house,
Under the apple-tree."

East or West, Home is best

So he travelled here and there,
But never content¹ was he,
Though he saw in lands most fair
The costliest² homes there be.
He something missed from the sea or
sky,
Till he turned again with wistful sigh³
To the little brown house,
The old brown house,

Under the apple-tree.
Then the mother saw and smiled,
While her heart grew glad and free;
"Hast⁴ thou⁵ chosen a home, my child?
Ah, where shall we live?" said she.

And he said,
"Sweet mother, from east to west,
The loveliest home,
and the dearest and best
Is a little brown house,
An old brown house,
Under an apple-tree."
